ARBUCKLE JURY WAS SWORN IN THIS MORNING

Five Women Will Hear Testimony of What Happened at Orgy

ONE SINGLE WOMAN

Defendant Said He is Satisfied With Women on Jury to Try Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—The twelve men and women who will decide whether Roscoe Arbuckle is to don a large striped suit and go to work in the jute mill of San Quentin penitentiary or is to go free and be exonerated of the manslaughter charge in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, were sworn in today.

The case was adjourned by Judge Harold Louderback until 2 p. m. in order to allow the prosecution to marshal its witnesses. The jury will be locked up throughout the case, Judge Louderback announced.

"I am satisfied with the jury," Arbuckle said, during the recess. It looks like a fair, impartial jury to me. I am glad there are women on it. I want to be vindicated by the women as well as the men."

The jury is composed of Thomas Kilkenny, candy dealer; Henry J. Reef, expert accountant; Mrs. Kitty L. MacDonald, wife of a manufacturing agent; John J. H. Dierks, retired liquor dealer; Arthur H. Crane, expert on explosives; Mrs. Adeline M. Nelson, housewife; Clarence C.Sayre, contractor and brother-in-law of Capt. A. D. Layne of the police department; Mrs. Dorothy B. O'Dea, wife of a life insurance agent; William H. Tarpey, a contractor; Mrs. Helen M. Hubbard, wife of an attorney; Miss Louise E. Winterburn, spinster, and August Fritse, sales manager.

MAIL CLERK IS VERY GLAD GARDNER WAS NOT SOMEONE ELSE

Says He Will Educate Boy With Reward From Uncle Sam

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Herman Inderlied, the man who single handed and unarmed, captured the country's most famous mail robber, wrote his story exclusively for the United Press today.

By HERMAN INDERLIED

If I had had time to think I would have put up my hands. I was scared. I didn't think. I just acted. It took me off my feet by its suddenness. When I really came to it was all over. I'm not a hero. I just shot off the hip, as it were.

I haven't lost my nerve. Every night I go out with 170-17 just as before. If the train is held up again I don't know what I'll do. I'll tell the world I'm not going to take any foolhardy chances. I see now that if Gardner hadn't been the man he was I would have been under the daisies at this moment.

My wife is certainly grateful to Gardner. She hasn't gotten over the shock of it yet. We're going to call on Gardner at the jail. I want him as a friend. I certainly don't want him to go out of here thinking of me as an enemy. I feel proud to have a man like that as a friend.

Don't worry. I'm not going to buy any high-powered limousines if I am given the reward for Gardner's capture. I have a boy to educate and he's going to get the best there is.

It does seem like an act of providence. I admit it has worried me a little how the kid was going to get the college education I want him to have. That money is going into the savings bank if they give it to me.

HIGH DELEGATION GOES TO MONROVIA

Coach Hayhurst and a delegation from the Glendale high school went to Monrovia this afternoon to witness the football game between Monrovia high school and Franklin high for the championship of the Central Athletic league. Considerable interest is felt among the students and faculty of the Glendale high school as to the outcome of this game. Glendale was tied with Monrovia and Franklin for first place in the league until defeated by Franklin. After the game with Franklin Monrovia defeated the local football team on Armistice Day. The light weight team of the Glendale high school will play the first game of a series to decide the midget champions of the league, on Wednesday with the Huntington Park team at Huntington Park.

CONVICT CAUGHT

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 18.—Oscar Blaney, who escaped from the Utah state prison September 14, was recaptured at Alberquerque, N. M. according to a message received by Sheriff Emry.

Time for Spirit of Man to Rise to Higher Level

It is time for the spirit of man, which has wallowed so long in the slough of hates and perverted patriotism, to rise to the level of humanity and demonstrate that human being are capable of an infinite divinity. This is what Dr. Frank Crane says tonight on the editorial page where he also states that destiny has called the world anew to unity.

Henry James discusses the question of human honesty as it is applied to a passenger on the street car who picks up and keeps a package left there by another passenger.

James W. Foley finds a lesson in the man who serves, who is resolute, industrious, merciful, kind and thoughtful.

Della Stewart asks "Why not plumb our own depths?" and there are editorials that will start a train of thought. It is a good page to get the habit of reading each evening. That is why we call your attention to it.

PARK AVENUE WILL FIGHT AUTO PARK

Delegation Appears Before Council to Protest Against Clennin's Plans

A delegation of Park avenue property holders appeared before the city council Thursday night and entered protest against the establishment of an auto camp ground in that district. Mr. Huntley, acting as spokesman for the delegation, protested on the ground that such a camp would tend to lower property values. He said that the property holders had invested considerable money in land there and were spending more to improve it.

Sanitary Inspector Hollenbeck was asked what he had found by his investigation of the camp ground and he stated that he found that in order to comply with sanitary regulations a cesspool, sanitary plumbing, garbage cans and incinerators must be installed. He said that he had informed F. E. Clennin, who owns the property, that these would have to be installed before he would O. K. a permit and that Clennin has installed the improvements as ordered.

A communication from Mr. Clennin informed the council that sanitary regulations had been complied with. Councilman Stephenson said that as no permit had been granted and the communication before the council from Mr. Clennin was not a request for a permit, one could not be issued. He further stated that the matter of granting a permit should be held up pending a formal application for permission to operate and that if the camp is in operation it was a violation of a city ordinance and should be referred to the chief of police. This was done and the chief of police was ordered to investigate.

Toe the Mark of Fidelity, Help the Cause of Humanity

Glendale is one of a very few cities of 20,000 to 25,000 in the United States where there is little, if any, destitution. If there is a family in need in Glendale, its needs are not known, for if they were known, someone would fill the empty cupboard and give quick aid.

There are two organizations, world-wide in their scope, that are seeking aid from the people of Glendale. The American Red Cross is conducting its roll call and the Salvation Army is making a drive for funds with which to operate.

There is not a person in Glendale who needs information about the activities of the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

It should not be necessary for workers to plead for funds for either of these organizations. It is to be regretted that the funds are not already subscribed to both organizations.

What is money? Money is the element in competitive life that is exchanged for things we need and for many things we think we need. We cannot take money with us when we die, for in Heaven it is not needed and in Hell it would make things worse.

If you have a little more than you need for your immediate needs, give it to the Salvation Army or the American Red Cross.

Money cannot buy anything in the hereafter. Let it buy some happiness for others while you are alive to see them enjoy it.

Loosen up. Cough up. Give up. Do it now, for tomorrow you may not be here.

Late News Flashes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The third plenary session of the conference will be held at 11 a. m. Monday in Continental hall, it was announced today.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 18—Secretary of State Hughes today wired Customs Collector Sprigg here, giving permission for the Mexican federals to take a large consignment of rifles and 50,000 rounds of ammunition into Lower California from this country.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The senate today banned the use of beer for medicine by adopting the conference report on the anti-beer bill. The bill now goes to the president. The vote was 56 to 22 for the conference report.

TOKIO, Nov. 18.—Japanese editorial expressions and semi-official comment today suddenly turned against renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Substitution of an American-British-Japanese understanding was suggested as highly desirable.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 18.—Four revolutionists killed and a large party routed, with capture of the arms, ammunition and supplies of the entire Lower California revolution organization, is reported here today by Governor Epigmenio Ybarra, governor of the district.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Acceptance of Henry Ford's big offer for the Muscle Shoals nitrate plant virtually has been decided upon by the Harding administration. This was learned from high official sources, as the automobile manufacturer came here today to discuss details of his proposals with Secretary of War Weeks.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Although the Irish situation looked dark today, it was learned from a reliable source that Lloyd George probably will go to the Washington arms conference before Christmas, barring unforeseen changes in the next few days. The premier will make a flat "yes or no" decision on this matter within a very short time.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—President Harding's influence with congress is at stake. Republican leaders of the senate and house today admitted privately that the crushing defeat given the president by the house on his letter asking that surtaxes paid by the rich be cut to 40 per cent may have far-reaching consequences and is extremely embarrassing to them.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Premier Briand, in his speech at the next open session of the arms conference, will agree to further reductions in France's army. The French premier will promise that France is prepared to go to the "absolute limit" of reduction in her land armaments, to conform with the world sentiment, developed at the present conference.

MAKES THINGS EASY FOR MR. NEWBERRY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The supreme court decision in the case of Senator Newberry, Michigan, makes it unnecessary for a candidate for the United States senate to file any expense settlement whatever in connection with either his nomination or election, Attorney General Daugherty ruled today, in an informal opinion to Representative Luce, Massachusetts, of the house sub-committee on elections. Under the ruling, candidates for the senate are given a free rein to spend as much money as they please without accounting so long as they remain within other requirements of the corrupt practices act.

GETS DAMAGE FOR SCAR ON SHOULDER

PARIS, Nov. 18.—A girl who has reached thirty must wear low necked dresses if she hopes to catch a husband in France. A Paris court so decided in awarding Mlle. Cora Volpihac $1,000 damages for injuries sustained while working in a department store.

Mlle. Volpihac sustained a scar just below her left shoulder. She pleaded that she could no longer wear decollette gowns, and that considering the great surplus of unmarried women in France over eligible males, she had lost all chance in the race for a husband.

NEW QUARTERS FOR GLENDALE POSTOFFICE

Inspector Calls for Bids for 5000 Square Feet of Space for Office

BUSINESS CENTER CITY

Bids Must be in by End of This Month Says Call From Los Angeles

D. Ripley Jackson has received authority from Los Angeles to advertise for proposals to furnish quarters for the independent postoffice in Glendale, of which Captain Jackson has been named as acting postmaster.

Specifications and the formal call for proposals and the terms of the lease for the new postoffice building are as follows:

"The undersigned will receive proposals up to and including November 30, 1921, for the furnishing of suitable quarters for postoffice purposes at Glendale, California, under lease for five or ten years from March 1, 1922, in accordance with the attached blank form, which, as will be noted, calls for the furnishing of rent, heat, light, water, closets, urinals, safe or vault, and all necessary furniture and equipment for the proper conduct of said office at a stated price per annum.

"There will be needed in this instance:

'Not less than 5000 square feet of floor space.

"Good daylight, location not too far from business center and railroad depots are points for general consideration.

"Blank proposals and specifications may be obtained from the postmaster. The form of lease may be examined at the postoffice.

"Diagrams of the rooms offered should be submitted, showing dimensions, windows, etc. Proposals should be enclosed in sealed envelopes on the outside of which is written the name of the office and the words 'Lease Proposal.' Proposals wil be opened at Los Angeles, California, December 1st, 1921. The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.
(Signed) "FRANK J. HARE,
"Postoffice Inspector, Los Angeles, California."

THORNYCROFT BOYS RECREATION HALL EQUIPMENT

Twenty-five Per Cent Gross New Business of Press go Toward Equipment

Already a large number of business and professional women of the city have ordered space in the Thanksgiving number of the Glendale Daily Press, 25 per cent of the proceeds of the gross amount taken in on these advertisements to be used to buy equipment for the recreation hall to be constructed at Thornycroft sanitarium, where the government is caring for 51 disabled ex-service men and two women who were in the service.

Mrs. Mary Schultz, superintendent of the sanitarium, is to build a recreation hall and it is to equip this that the funds are being secured. Phone Glendale 97 and order space reserved as there is but a limited time these advertisements may be secured.

CAT CLUB SHOW BE ON NOVEMBER 29-30

One Hundred Cats Expected to be Entered in Big Event This Month

The Glendale Cat Club is to have its second annual championship show November 29 and 30, at 138-140 North Brand boulevard. Miss Claribel Grim of Grand View is receiving the entries and has already enrolled 70. She expects at least 100, which will put the exhibit in the big show class. Her telephone number is Glendale 2100-M. and owner of cats who wish to enter them are advised to communicate with her.

A premium list will be issued which will include a large list of valuable cups and other prizes.

BLANTON WOULD BE ORATOR-AT-LARGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Representative Thomas L. Blanton, Texas, recently ceusured by the house, today challenged his 17 house colleagues from Texas to meet him in debate between November 24 and December 5 in nine Texas cities on his record and deportment in the house. Blanton proposed that the debates be staged in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Galveston, Austin, San Antonio, Waco, Amarillo and El Paso.

Only Woman Elected to Office in New York

Miss Anne Mathews, register-elect, was the only woman in New York City to be elected for an office. Miss Mathews was born on election day, which was a forecast of the success she was to achieve in political life. Her office pays a salary of $12,000 per year.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS STOPPED ALL WORK ON BATTLESHIPS

Sensation Step is Heralded Over World as Big Step in Favor of Peace

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Great Britain has ordered immediate cessation of construction work on capital ships to prove her desire for carrying out the Hughes program. After a sudden and unexpected announcement by the admiralty that work had been stopped on four super-dreadnaughts, an official statement was issued to the effect that this move was Britain's "first step to prove she is desirous of disarming in accordance with the Hughes plan."

Admiral Sir Percy Scott, noted naval expert, characterized the suspension as "a red letter day for the taxpayer," declaring "it will save him a hundred million pounds (normally about $500,000,000). He further expressed the belief that the work on the four ships specified never would be resumed.

It was learned from reliable sources that the suspension order originated with Premier Lloyd George who instructed the admiralty to take such action.

"The decision is the logical outcome of what is occurring in Washington," declared Admiral Mark Kerr. "There is no use in spending money in building ships if all are to be scrapped."

GLASGOW, Nov 18—The admiralty's order suspending construction on the new super-dreadnaughts, threw the River Clyde region into consternation today. Letting of the contracts had provided work for thousands of men and had done much to relieve the unemployment situation.

POISON-SPRAYED FRUITS BANNED

Council Adopts Ordinance Covering Fruits, Vegetables Arsenic Sprayed

An emergency ordinance prohibiting spraying fruits or vegetables with poisonous solution prior to being offered for sale and making the violation of the ordinance a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $500, a jail sentence not to exceed six months in the county jail or both fine and jail sentence was adopted Thursday night by the city council to become effective at once.

The ordinance was enacted on request from City Health Officer Eckles and Sanitary Inspector Hollingsworth, who said that it is necessary to regulate selling celery that had been sprayed with an arsenic solution, such as has been sold recently in Glendale, several cases of poisoning having been traced to the solution used in spraying.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN PUT ON HERE SOON

Athletes of the Glendale high school are now turning their attention to track work and about 20 men have turned out for cross-country practice. The track men are going through a course of training prepaatoy to enteing a coss-county ace in the early part of December to be participated in by several schools of Southern California. Some of the old track men, held over from last year, have turned out and considerable new material is evident on the cinder track. Some of this new material gives evidence of being worked into point winners for the Glendale high school before the end of the track season.

UNITED STATES WILL NOT HELP IN CASE OF WAR

Bryan Points to Futility of Warfare as Compelling Hand of Peace

FORCE NOT THE CURE

Says Sentiment Over World Growing Against Arms as Means of Peace

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
(Copyright 1921 by the United Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—France cannot hope for a treaty with the United States by which this country will rush to her defense in case of an attack. There never was a day when it could have received favorable consideration in the senate and any favor shown in 1919 has disappeared.

It is not that the United States is less sympathetic toward France, but that there is a growing conviction that guarantees of force will not settle the problem which the world has to meet. That was the old plan and it brought on the bloodiest war in history. There has been a tremendous reaction against war in the United States, as well as in other countries.

This is shown by the refusal of congress to provide for as many soldiers in the regular army as the secretary of war asked, by its failure to vote as much money to the navy as the secretary of the navy asked, and by the total disappearance of sentiment, once quite strong, in favor of universal compulsory military training.

The people of the United States believe that the revolution in opinion now going on will create in France—if it has not already done so—a feeling that securities for the future ought to be found in the substitution of friendship and good will for the former methods of diplomacy and that these securities will not only be sufficient, but very much more effective than those that rested upon the exciting of fear.

The Far Eastern question will be settled along the same line as that which will furnish security to France. With the disappearance of offensive navies will come the spirit of conciliation.

When the threat of force is abandoned and persuasion substituted for it, she will be invited to do more than she now can do by force. Japan should be to China what the United States is to the republics of Central and South America. This nation has for more than a century been next friend to South America and in all that time it has never asked for a favor or sought to compel the granting of a concession.

TO WIDEN LOS FELIZ ROAD IS PLAN OF SOUTH-SIDERS

Would Take Twenty Feet From South Side Road to Give More Room

The meeting of the South Glendale Improvement Association at the branch library building Thursday evening, was not largely attended nor was much actual business transacted but it afforded opportunity for considerable discussion of matters of immediate local interest.

The widening of Los Feliz road between San Fernando and Brand was one of the topics, and the discussion indicated practical unanimity in favor of a plan to take 20 feet from property on the south side of the street between San Fernando and Central by purchase or condemnation, and to let into the street the parking on both sides between Central and Brand leaving a slight jog at Central. Mr. Denman, Mrs. Rich, Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, and other interested property owners participated in the talk.

The site of the proposed new high school was referred to but the association expressed its neutrality in the matter since the selection of a site is to be decided by popular vote. The only action taken was a vote to cooperate in the community Christmas tree which is being planned but the location of which has not been selected.

DEMENTED WOMAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mrs. J. R Sears, mother of two small children, was sent to the psychopathic ward of the county hospital Thursday on a committment issued by Police Judge F. H. Lowe. Mrs. Sears was taken from the Glendale hospital and sanitarium, where she had been suffering from the delusion that her father had been injured.

According to the committment papers the woman attempted to take her life by jumping from the windows of the hospital. Another delusion was that someone was trying to poison her and that someone is in distress and needs her help.

TRUE FRUIT FLAVOR WITH ICE CREAM VERY POPULAR

Glendale Company Puts Fine Flavoring on Market Here. Ask For It.

Fru-ber-ree,' a new true fruit flavored ice cream, is on the market, and is being sold by the Glendale Ice Cream Company.

Fru-bre-ree', with its delicious, fruity, winey tang, is an original product of the laboratories of the Henry-Brown Company, Inc., manufacturers of the wonderful Sierra Club Ginger ale and fruit beverages, the wide distribution of which has done as much or more than any one line of reputable products to voice and perpetuate the praises of Glendale.

By special agreement with the Henry-Brown company, the Glendale Ice Cream company will have precedence in the use of this delicious creation for ice cream in Glendale.

It is predicted that the Fru-ber-ree' true fruit flavor will prove a sensation, since it may be used in a hundred or more ways as a flavoring, giving distinct individuality to frozen dainties, confections, beverages, fruit punches, especially those served in the home.

Fru-ber-ree' is said to have no peer as a flavoring for ice cream, fruit sundaes, malted milk, fruit sauces, gelatines, sherbets, ices and fruit punches for all occasions. It is also a wonderful flavoring for home-made confections such as bon bons and chocolate cream centers or fudges.

The Henry-Brown company is preparing to exploit Fru-ber-ree' in various convenient forms, especially for home uses, and will, at the same time, issue a leat little handy book of recipes tht will suggest the numerous uses to which this wonderfully versatile and luscious true fruit flavoring may be applied.

"Taste is the microscope of judgment," it is said, and this local institution asks Glendale people to ask for Fru-ber-ree' ice cream. They are confident your taste will tell the success of this distinctively Glendale creation.

EDITORIALS
BY THE PEOPLE

"Glendale, Nov. 18, 1921.

"Editor Glendale Daily Press:

"Will you kindly allow me a little space in your paper in which to speak of a little matter which has come to my attention during my short stay here?

"I see through the columns of your paper that the crime wave which is passing over the country has struck Glendale. Your police department seems to be fully alive to the situation, with offers of help from your fire department, which is highly commendable.

"May I venture to say that a great protection to the citizens of any place, as well as a help to the police and fire departments, are well lighted streets. I have particularly in mind Central avenue, from Broadway to San Fernando road, also Los Feliz road from Glendale avenue to San Fernando road. Both of these heavily traveled streets offer beautiful possibilities to anyone wishing to play a lawless game; both of these streets are worthy of the same single light system in use on the southern part of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road.

"I presume the good city fathers have had these matters under consideration, but I take the liberty of making this suggestion without the least spirit of criticism.

"Glendale is a bright, progressive and delightful little city and I should like to see it—as nearly as possible—as bright at night as it is in the day time.

"Thanking you for the space in your clean, enterprising newspaper,

FIST FIGHT ENDS IN "NOBUDDY HURT"

Two men engaged in a fist fight Thursday in South Glendale, on the main thoroughfare. A large crowd gathered around the fighters and watched the battle. An officer of the Glendale police force was among the crowd watching the fight and did not interfere. When the fight had ended both men were allowed to leave the street unmolested. Neither was hurt and they had to fight. If they had refused they would have lost their jobs. They were working for a motion picture company that was taking pictures in the Tropico district and the scenario demanded that they engage in a fist fight. The officer did not interfere because he knew that the company had a permit from Chief of Police Martin to "shoot" scenes in that district, and as the fight was merely a part of a scene, he was an interested spectator. After the fight, one of the participants said to the other: "Say, friend, if you don't stop mussing my hair in these rough scenes I am going to tell the director on you!" They lit cigarettes and walked down the street together to a waiting machine, and left for the studio in Los Angeles.

CHASSERRE BUILDS FIVE NEW HOUSES

John Chasserre, formerly of North Carolina, who has been living for the past few months in Los Angeles, is completing a beautiful home at 1036 Justin avenue. Until this place is finished Mr. Chasserre will live in his garage, which has been temporarily arranged for housekeeping. This home will be completed ni about two weeks. As soon as this place is finished Mr. Chasserre will begin the construction of five new homes on his property on Justin avenue. Each of these homes will be of four rooms, with sleeping porch, and will cost about $4000. Plans for these homes have already been finished and the work on all five will be rushed to completion.

ALICE GENTLE HAS IDEAS ON COOKING

Noted Star Always Passes Up Hotels So She Can Cook What She Wants

The people of Glendale are considerably interested in the personal life of Alice Gentle, the grand opera singer who, by some miracle of good fortune and praiseworthy enterprise on the part of officers of the Glendale Music club, has been secured as the solo artist for the club's concert December 2.

For an organization which came into being last February and now numbers 500 or more members, it is some achievement to bring an artist of this quality to Glendale to be heard by club members without additional cost, and to be heard by non-members at a price considerably under what they would have to pay for opera tickets.

Alice Gentle, the celebrated mezzo soprano of the Metropolitan, La Scala and Ravinia Park Opera companies and claimed by Scotti to be the "greatest natural talent before the public today," dislikes hotel life. Whenever the season of grand opera is of sufficient length to permit it, Miss Gentle wires her manager to secure an apartment for her. She accepts any shortcomings the apartment may have, providing the kitchen will permit of real cooking. And rea l cooking it must be for Miss Gentle knows good food and can prepare it from the first step of paring potatoes to brewing a clear cup o amber coffee. She allows her maid to do most of the cooking, however, for a singer's life will not permit of these details, but the final touches of every dish are always administered by the famous singer hereself. Fortunate are the friends and members of the company who are asked to dine with Miss Gentle.

FINE VAUDEVILLE AT T. D. & L. THEATRE

One of the most sensational acts of its kind in vaudeville is at the T. D. and L. Theater today and Saturday. Meiklejohn and Dunn were fortunate in securing Professor Brindamour and his company. Marvelous escapes from handcuffs, straight-jackets and the many devices for holding prisoners used both in this country and in Europe are performed by this man in a very short time.

Phesay and Powel call their offering "Vaudeville Eccentricities," and this versatile pair have a routine of songs, steps and stories that are sure to win much favor. Two talented young people, Gale and Record, have played a number of large Los Angeles theaters in their act, "Songs You Love to Hear." This is an offering that is quite different from any which has ever played Glendale.

Dancing Davey is a most entertaining chap who has a fortune in his feet. There is no dance that is too difficult for Davey, and he allows the audience to choose their favorites for him to dance.

This program might well be called a double one, for on the screen there will be seen William De Mille's latest masterpiece, "After the Show," a photoplay which is considered one of the best of the year. In the cast of this wonder picture are Lila Lee, Jack Holt and Charles Ogle. Popular prices will prevail as usual for this show.

REAL ESTATE SALES ARE HUMMING NOW

Things are humming for the General Realty company, 115 North Glendale. This firm reports the sale of the following property during the past few days: Eleven lots in the northwest section. Three of these are located on Mountain street and 8 face on Kenneth road. These were sold for Mr. Crow and the buyers are all Los Angeles parties. Also one lot on Brand boulevard to J. C. Stack of Los Angeles, two lots on Stanley avenue to C. Beal, two lots on Stanley avenue to William Grooman, and 4 lots on Stanley avenue to C. N. Erickson. This firm also sold a 5-room home on West Elk street to Mr. J. C. Pelty of Los Angeles, the price paid for this place being $4,600.

GRANTED PERMIT INSTALL SPUR TRACK

R. E. Johnston, proprietor of a hollow tile company on the San Fernando road, was given a permit by the city council Thursday night to run a spur track across San Fernando road from the Southern Pacific tracts to his plant. He stated that his company represented an investment of $50,000 and that such a spur or crossing was necessary to conduct the business.

Mrs. Clark Hilliard of Los Angeles entertained a few of her friends at a delightful luncheon Thursday, the guests from Glendale being, Mrs. C. E. Norton, Mrs. V. M. Tresslar, Mrs. Mabel Rudy and Mrs. Cora Jones, sister of the hostess.

RED PEPPER HEAT ENDS RHEUMATISM

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv.

GARDNER'S WIFE IS FOR HIM ALWAYS

Wires Bandit She Will Go to Phoenix if Wanted; Sorry He Fell Again

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Two more criminal charges stand against Roy Gardner today. One accuses him of robbing the postoffice at Maricopa, Ariz., on November 3. The second charges him with attacking 16-year-old Maria Munoz, Mexican girl. Warrants have been issued against the captured mail bandit on both charges. Because of them, it was intimated today that he may also have to stand trial for the episode on a Santa Fe mail train which resulted in his capture.

The original decision was to take him to Leavenworth federal prison to serve out the balance of his unexpired terms, without placing him on trial for his final attempted "stick up" of the mails.

If the two new charges are pressed, however, it may also be necessary to try him for the Santa Fe robbery, federal officials intimated.

Nothing of value was stolen in the Maricopa robbery except a watch, which was later pawned. The pawnbroker is said to have identified Gardner as the man who brought him the watch.

Dolly Gardner, wife of the "bandit of bandits," does not intend to desert her husband, although he faces prison terms which may take up the rest of his life. This was evident from the following telegram, sent by Mrs. Gardner from San Francisco:

"Dear Roy: I am sorry you did what you did. If you go to Leavenworth I will come to Phoenix. If you go to McNeil's Island I will wait here. Wire collect. Love. Dolly."

Miss Isabel Yates of 329 West Acacia avenue attended the ball given by Mullen & Bluett's at the Ambassador hotel on Wednesday night.

Mrs. J. S. Bailey of Highland avenue has returned from Santa Barbara, where she had been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Henderson.

BROWN COMPANY BRINGS NEW PEOPLE

Many Sales Are Reported By Firm Composed of Real Eagle Rock Boosters

J. B. Brown & Co. is doing its share toward bringng new people to Eagle Rock, as will be noted from the large number of sales made. Mr. Brown s a live wire, and has demonstrated he has unbounded faith in Eagle Rock.

His sales for the last few days are: House and lot, 131 Harvard drive, Paul Hagood to Wm. Chapman; house and lot, 412 Glen Eyrie, to Miss Johnson, a late arrival from the East; two lots, Mrs. Adelaide Colby, of Palm drive, to Page Noll; Mrs. Eddy to F. P. Neis, lot on South Glen Eyrie; Charles Slaght, to A. P. Steele, lot on Rowland; F. P. York to Page Noll, lot on East Adams.

Besides these, several other sales are pending.

MAGEE HAS BOUGHT EAGLE ROCK GARAGE

The Eagle Rock Garage has been sold to F. B. Magee, of Fresno, who is now in charge of the business. Mr. Kinney, former proprietor, will leave shortly for the East, where he will remain for several months. Mr. Magee is an experienced man in this line, and has an A-1 reputation in the automobile game. He will make improvements and take on the agency for a standard car soon.

Mrs. J. Baker and two daughters, Misses Effie and Hazel, are new arrivals here in Glendale, and are stopping with Mrs. Enos at the Victor hotel. They will also visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Galvin of 1344 North Columbus avenue. Mrs. Baker is very favorably impressed with Glendale and its beautiful homes and growing business and expects to locate here permanently.

Goes to Orange—Today chapter B of the P. E. O. goes to Orange, where it will be the guest of the state president, Mrs. Lola Bennett.

MADALYNNE WILL GET A REHEARING

Supreme Court Orders District Court Make Further Inquiry Monday

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—Both the prosecution and defense were readjusting their plans today in the "midnight murder" case of J. Belton Kennedy, following the state supreme court's favorable ruling on a writ of habeas demanding immediate trial or release of Madalynne Obenchain. The supreme court referred the case back to the district court of appeals and ordered further arguments heard on November 21, the day before Arthur Burch goes to trial on a charge of murdering Kenedy.

Mrs. O. H. Belew, 315 Ivy street, who has been confined to her home with a siege of tonsilitis, is felling much better now.

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Simms of Huntington Park were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Bentley of 1361 North Columbus avenue.

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing inflamed, swollen membranes and you get instant relief.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.—Advt.

NON-COMS GIVEN CHANCE AT DRILLS

Non-commissioned officers were given a chance at drilling the National Guards Thursday night. First Sergeant Alex was appointed company commander and Sergeants Wright and Wilde, platoon leaders. Lieutenants Whytock and Hayhurst assisted the platoon leaders. Practically all of the drill period was devoted to platoon drill under the command of the above mentioned officers and the company made an excellent showing, executing the moves and obeying commands with the snap and precision of veterans.

Lieutenant Hayhurst will take his company to the rifle range Saturday afternoon. The company will remain over night and return some time Sunday afternoon. All guardsmen will have an opportunity to shoot at the targets from the 300-yard range on this trip.

OLGO STEEBE WILL BE HEARD TUESDAY

A change has been made in the program for the Tuesday Afternoon club meeting November 22. The lecture by Baroness Ottily de Ropp on Rasputin has been postponed until a later date and instead a musical program will be given by Olga Steeb, who was heard here last year and gave a program that delighted her audience. Owing to the limitations of the Masonic Hall, attendance will be limited to members of the club and their guests, who present guest cards.

VELMA LINDLEY HONOREE AT SHOWER

Thursday Miss Velma Lindley was the honoree at a shower given for her by her sister, Mrs. Delbert McAdams, at the Lindley home on Belmont street. The afternoon was devoted to games in which prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Peebles and Mrs. F. A. Reed and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the hostess.

Miss Lindley was the recipient of many pretty gifts and of the congratulations of her friends. She is the daughter of Arthur G. Lindley and is to become the bride of Doris Smith, son of Gordon L. Smith of this city early in January. The guests included Mesdames Knox, Evans, Morton, Henry Johnston, Charles Peebles, William Compton, Tom Osgood, F. H. Reed, H. Matthiesen, T. L. Russell, L. C. Lee, and Misses Tessa Bott, Eloise Francey, Fern Warner, Ruth Morton, Waunita Emery, Josephine Emery, Olive Belle Emery, E. Teasdale, the honoree and the hostess.

MRS. EAST HOSTESS AT BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. East of 225 South Sentral avenue entertained at a family dinner Thursday evening in honor of Mr. East's birthday.

The guests included Mrs. B. J. East, mother of the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Frank George and Mary Elizabeth George, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. East and son, Billy.

COLUMBUS AVENUE P.-T. A. MEETING

The board of directors of the Columbus avenue P.-T.A. met at the school Thursday afternoon for the transaction of necessary business and voted to turn over the school cafeteria for which the association has been responsible, to Mrs. Knesler, who has been conducting it for them, allowing her to make what profit she can without increasing the cost of the service. Reports on the final returns from the card party held at the home of Mrs. John Robert White showed net receipts of $47.

At the regular meeting of the association which followed the executive session, Mrs. A. A. Barton made an excellent talk on "The Constructive Mother" in which she emphasized the importance of laying a firm moral foundation in the life of a child if a structure is to be built up that will stand the buffetings and temptations of the world. She urged mothers to attend the P. T. A. meetings as a means of education in the responsibilities of motherhood.

The chairman of membership reported the completion of the drive and an enrollment of 262 which had been easily secured because the majority of mothers were anxious to join.

The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. H. Thompson, and room mothers were appointed as follows: Kindergarten room, Mrs. M. E. Young; Miss Mitchell's room, Mrs. Eckelberger; Miss Church's room, Mrs. W. E. Griggs; Miss Ball's room, Mrs. E. Jackson; Miss Yarnell's room, Mrs. Potter; Miss Pauley's room, Mrs. Bradley; Miss Snyder's room, Mrs. H. C. Vanderwater; Mrs. Robinson's room, Mrs. W. M. Brown; Miss Bigelow's room, Mrs. W. B. Eckert; Miss Berry's room, Mrs. Humans.

MRS. LINDSEY TELLS OF ORIENT TRAVELS

Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsey was the speaker at the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon club this week, her travels in China during the past summer being the theme of her talk. She spoke of the poverty and unrest in China where nothing seems to be settled, and of the suffering among children. She also referred to the fine work of the American missionaries but their helplessness to cope with the situation. Her longest stops were in Canton and Hong Kong and she spoke of the contrast between conditions there and in the ports of Japan which she next visited and where it seemed to her a higher degree of civilization prevailed.

The report of gross returns from the dinner and card party given by the club the evening before indicated net returns of about $50. It proved a delightful social evening which was much enjoyed by all who participated.

KENT HOME SCENE BRILLIANT PARTY

The home of Mrs. Roy L. Kent at 522 North Central avenue was the scene of a lively party Thursday night when members of Chapter C. J., P. E. O., entertained the members of other local chapters—Chapter L., Chapter B. A., and Chapter A. H.

To insure the breaking of any social ice and promote acquaintance members were tagged as soon as they arrived on their backs beyond their range of vision with the names of other members. To ascertain who they were supposed to represent they had to go about asking questions calculated to reveal their imaginary identity.

Mrs. Kent was assisted by Mrs. Putman, president of C. J., Mrs. Fannie Crampton, and Mrs. Gladys Foster.

The program of the evening was in charge of Mrs. H. V. Brown and included a speech of greeting by the president of the hostess chapter, Mrs. Putman, a beautiful original poem by Mrs. Fannie Crampton, vocal solos by Miss Marie Oliver accompanied upon the piano by Mrs. Green, instrumental numbers by a trio composed of Mrs. H. V. Brown, at the piano, and her daughters Agnes and Bertha, who played violin and saxophone, and recitations by the children of the hostess, Howard Kent reciting "Castor Oil," "When Pa Takes Ma for an Auto Ride," and "Bill's New Sister." His sister, Ethelwyn Kent recited "Comfort" and "The Foolish Maiden's Bonnet."

About 80 guests were present, some being members of outside chapters who have recently come to Glendale or who are sojourning here temporarily, including Miss Halverson of the First National bank staff, Mrs. John Bibb from Tacoma, Miss Irene Sheppard from Gerome, Idaho, and Mrs. Frank Fox, who is a new-comer in our city. Refreshments were served about 10 p. m.

PACIFIC AVENUE P.-T. A. SESSION

A meeting of the Pacific avenue P.-T. A. was held at the school Thursday afternoon which was preceded by a meeting of the executive board. It opened as usual with a salute to the flag led by Mrs. Tuttle, after which "America the Beautiful" was sung.

Mrs. Stone, the principal, announced the plans for Education week from December 4 to 10, and stated that the schools would keep open house. She urged mothers to visit them and see the work that is being done.

Members then indulged in a "penny drill" and the count of mothers was taken which awarded the bird and cage to Mrs. Stone's room.

Mrs. P. O. Lucas announced the musical program and introduced Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman, who gave two piano numbers.

Mrs. Phillips, domestic science chairman, introduced Mrs. Kate Vaughn of Los Angeles who gave an excellent talk on home economics that was much enjoyed.

The members then adjourned to enjoy tea and cake which were served in the court. About 25 were present.

MISS BERNICE MAHON HONOREE AT PARTY

Mrs. Grover Adams of 417 West Maple street, entertained Monday evening for Miss Bernice Mahon of Santa Paula, who has come to Glendale to live with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Ruggles of 418 West Maple street, and who is attending U. of C., Southern branch.

It was a surprise dinner party in celebration of the birthday of the honoree. Orange and white chrysanthemems were used in decoration and covers were laid for Misses Dorothy Howard, Faith Tarling, Vesta Morrow, all of Glendale, Miss Bernice Goodell of Los Angeles, the guest of honor and the hostess. A social evening of music and games followed the dinner

MRS. BROWN WAS HOSTESS ON TUESDAY

Mrs. S. E. Brown of South Maryland avenue entertained on Tuesday at an informal social afternoon for ladies of the Tropico Presbyterian church. Her home was decorated with chrysanthemums in honor of her guests who spent part of the afternoon in progressive conversation on themes suggested by the hostess.

Twenty were present and light refreshments were served at the close of the day.

MRS. McCOURT WAS THURSDAY HOSTESS

Mothers of pupils in the B-8-1 class of intermediate were entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert McCourt, 336 North Central, Mrs. Ingram, the class mother, Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Searles and Mrs. Roberts being assisting hostesses. Present besides the ladies mentioned were Mesdames Whitaker, Beamon, Edwards, Stanley, Wichert, Cribbs, Cline, Horner, Ranes, Kulp, Mrs. J. R. White, federation president, Miss Carrie Noble, principal of intermediate, and Miss Sinclair, the class teacher.

Mrs. White made an excellent talk on matters of interest to mothers, Miss Noble announced plans for National education week from December 4 to 10 and an informal social afternoon was enjoyed with refreshments served at the close by the hostesses.

BROADWAY P. T. A. MET THURSDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Broadway Parent-Teacher association which took place Tuesday afternoon was preceded by a business session of the executive committee but the matters considered were not of general public interest.

No speaker had been provided and a miscellaneous program of music and recitations was given which included vocal solos by Mrs. Edith Gibbons, piano solos by Miss Spear, a duet by Miss Spear and Miss West and recitations and songs by children of the fourth grade.

The president, Mrs. C. A. Bowlus, presided and a goodly number attended.

FLOAT COMMITTEE HELD ITS SESSION

The float committee of the chember of commerce met in headquarters on West Broadway last night and took up the preliminary work of providing a float for the coming Tournament of Roses in Pasadena on New Year's day. The committee adjourned to meet Monday evening at the same place, at which time they will decide upon some definite plan of action that will be presented to the board of directors at its meeting Tuesday noon.

N. W. Andrews who for the past several years has been connected with the Spalding Confectionery of Long Beach, has moved to Glendale and about December 1st will open a high class confectionery establishment at 144 South Brand boulevard. Mr. Andrews knows the confectionery business thoroughly and the establishment that he will maintain will doubtless be a credit to the business life of Glendale. Mr. Andrews has already become a member of the chamber of commerce of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Horne of 1445 Valley View road have just recently purchased a beautiful St. Bernard dog for their children. The newly acquired animal has been named "Rover the Second" and has won all the prizes at Pasadena and the Ambassador hotel. He is just two years old.

Truths in Epigram

Only the spirit of rebellion craves for happiness in this life. What right have we human beings to happiness? — Henryk Ibsen (1828-1906).

Adversity sometimes is hard upon a man: but for one man who can stand prosperity, there are a hundred that will stand adversity.—Carlyle (1795-1881).

BOBBED HAIR

"Whose business is it if girls do bob their hair?"

Thus the president of a college for women expressed himself the other day.

So far as recalled this is the first sensible word said on the subject by a man of authority. What he was implying, of course, was that if a girl chooses to bob her hair, it is her own affair. This is precisely the truth.

Many young women engaged in earning their own livings must find the care of a luxurious set of tresses a considerable burden, consuming much time. It may be true that there are types, even types of beauty, to which abundant hair is an indispensable adornment. This is by no means a general rule. A comely girl remains comely with her hair bobbed. Indeed, it is not infrequent for the change to be an enhancement of beauty.

However, these are details of no importance in consideration of the matter in the light of ethics and personal liberty. The whole subject resolves itself down to the proposition that if a girl wants her hair bobbed, it is her right to have it bobbed, and interference on the part of her employer is nothing short of impertinance.

ATTACKS ON WOOLWINE

Rumors continue of an attempt to oust District Attorney Woolwine. Thus far there has been no evidence made public of any circumstance warranting such course. The case, as compiled by diligent enemies of Woolwine, has been submitted to the state's attorney, who has failed to see merit in the contention.

This paper supported Mr. Woolwine. It is quite aware that he has capacity to fight his own battles. He has gained the disesteem of a number of rogues. He has some of these poised at the gate of the penitentiary now, only awaiting the defeat of technical opposition in order to cast them inside. Naturally they sequel and kick, thinking their chance to escape justice would be bettered by removal of Mr. Woolwine.

Regardless of the personal equation, and of the political aspect of the controversy, the present would seem to be an unpropitious moment for a deliberate attempt to paralyze the arm of justice. That is, an unpropitious time in view of all but the defendants in important cases, and the convicted who are running around on bail instead of being in the penitentiary, where Mr. Woolwine has proved them to belong.

No quicker way to paralyze the arm of justice effectually could be found than to strike it down as it reaches for malefactors.

There are criminal matters of great importance now before the courts. Not one of the accused, if guilty, desires the retention of Woolwine. The general public does not want any faithful official sacrificed to the spite of political or underworld foes.

Doubtless the district attorney will defend himself as need may arise, but it is not fair that he should be forced to do this when he is engaged in concerns of grave moment that require an undivided attention.

PRACTICAL ANTI-WAR PLEA

The plan to reduce the number of battleships is an anti-war measure. It is put largely on the ground of economy, and economy is a great consideration. The real motive, however, is the preservation of peace.

"For 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 men to go unemployed this winter, and their wives and children hungry and cold while $45,000,000 is spent in the equipment of one battleship, is absolutely and radically immoral," said Dean MacCormack in a recent address.

At about the same time David Starr Jordan remarked that one battleship costs as much as the University of California, and that the model of 1925 would be twice as expensive as those of today.

These averments, the truth of which none will question, are very practical pleas against using the substance of the nation upon that which can accomplish no good.

Such a commentator as Brisbane flouts the idea that there is anything noble in the offer of the United States he cut down the number of battleships. He wrote this as he was going to the conference apparently with intent to flout whatever activity he might encounter there. His notion is that the battleship as a fighting unit is obsolete and useless, and its scrapping would represent no sacrifice, but merely conform to a necessity. Such a view is narrow, but with a faint coloring of truth, and seems to have been meant to discredit and disparage the spirit and the purpose of the conference.

The practical plea against continued armaments, and against carrying a useless burden of preparedness, is in the facts cited by the men first quoted.

Storms of speculation may rage, and correspondents settle the grave matter according to their several notions, but the real decision of the issue will rest on the broad truth that the civilization has no right to devote its energies to its own destruction.

UNDIGNIFIED PROCEDURE

It is no part of the duty of a newspaper to try people who are accused of crime. That is a duty falling properly to the courts alone. Nevertheless it is frequent for prisoners to be convicted, or to be declared innocent, prior to their formal ordeal at the bar of justice. The decision in each case is likely not to be based on facts, but upon personality. A charming feminine prisoner, no matter how gravely charged, knows that public opinion is formed largely by her method of wearing her hair, or the allurement of her smile.

To select a concrete example, it may be said that there is before the court of this county now, the joint case of a man and woman who are under indictment for murder. Everything that it is possible to do to delay the trials is being done. The defense is marked by appeals known in advance to be without merit. Publicity is sought by every trick and device. Sentiment is sought to be created favorable to the pair. There is an effort to bury beneath a pile of rubbish the facts mentioned in the papers drawn up by the prosecution.

This nonsense would not be permitted in the court of any other country in the world. Anywhere else the two accused of murder would be tried without the long preliminaries. The matter at issue would involve their guilt or innocence, and not be governed by maudlin sentiment. While they waited in their cells there would be no reception, no gifts of flowers, and no columns of stuff recording their daily deportment, appearance, humor, fads, foibles, history, hysterics or bluff.

Americans do some things differently, and do not invariably do them so well as other foll..

UNSETTLING THINGS

In his place among savants rises one to proclaim that the nebular hypothesis is all wrong. He says this earth never was a circling mass of gas, gradually acquiring the crust upon which mortals tread. He regards it as an accumulation of particles, solid and therefore crust from the core out.

If the nebular hypothesis goes, many other things must go with it. For instance, the theory that while the globe was less firmly settled, and was whirling more rapidly than at present, it tossed off the moon. No solid ball of earth ever could have sloughed the moon, or at least there would have been left an identifiable scar.

Prof. Michelson, who not long ago measured the giant star Bertelgeuse, and declared it to have a diameter of 300,000,000 miles, comes forward with the statement that in browsing about the heavenly spaces he has observed stars so much bigger, that Bertelgeuse sinks into second class or even lower. This is very interesting, but rather appalling to the ordinary mind. A star of the dimensions named would seem to be large enough for all practical purposes.

There appears to be much in science that has not been established on a basis so strong as to be certain to endure. Attacks even upon the law of gravitation are frequent. As yet human intelligence stands by Newton. The impairment of the long-trusted law would be beheld with regret and misgiving. The nebular hypothesis also has endeared itself as explanatory of much that otherwise must go back into the realm of mystery.

Truth is mighty of course, but truth is mighty hard to lay a firm grasp upon sometimes.

THE NEW CRUSADE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Destiny has called the world anew to unity.

Stroke after stroke the great events of this generation sound the same tocsin.

In various ways, by different voices, God Almighty speaks the same message; that is, for men to get together.

It is that humanity shall realize its unity.

In the great war, when the old forces of mediaevalism, coming to a head in the ambitions of the German Junkers, attacked the world we heard the call and the nations of earth leagued themselves as brothers in arms to resist the assault.

If there was any lesson from the great war at all, it was that which was expressed in the words of Elihu Burritt, "above all nations is humanity."

After the great war came the attempt at political unity. In the fact of impending bankruptcy, fronting the moral collapse that followed the war, fearful of the downfall of civilization because of the menacing doctrines of all sorts of impatient revolutionists, the nations attempted to get together in a political league.

They were hardly strong enough, hardly yet enough emancipated from the control of old traditions and ghost rule of wornout ideas to accomplish so ideal a purpose.

And now comes a new opportunity.

The mighty nation of Russia is threatened with famine.

It is an incomparable disaster—one the extent of which is hardly paralleled in history.

Civilization is assaulted, not by men of arms this time, but by hungry men, by marching women, who, as they come, leave their dead children by the roadside.

It is an army of human misery.

In the face of this assault we have once more the opportunity for unity, a lesson which we found it so hard to learn during the war, but which we had to learn or perish—a lesson which we quickly lost sight of after the war.

Let us have a new council of nations, a new alliance, which shall be formed to conquer Russia, not by guns and battleships, but by kindness and human charity.

Mr. Winston Churchill once proposed a crusade of England, France and Germany combined against the bolshevik. He thought that such a combination would produce that reconciliation of victors and vanquished which all thinking men realize will be necessary eventually for the defense of civilization.

The present occasion is still better. It is one in which every nation of the earth can join. Battleships from all nations could escort the allied fleets laden with food for the starving people.

Engineers and administrators could help Russia rebuild her railways and distribute this food to her starving people.

Before such an attack of brotherhood the last remnant of enmity and hate would disappear.

Such a union would not be for the slaying of men, but to keep them alive.

It is time for the spirit of man, which has wallowed so long in the slough of hates and perverted patriotism, to rise to the level of humanity and demonstrate that human beings, although capable of infinite beastliness in the past, are likewise capable of an infinite divinity in the future.

THE LISTENING POST

In the palm of your hand is a white powder.
Out of a barrel or bag.
Smooth, fine, clean and soft to the touch.

Back of it somewhere was a green shoot breaking the earth.
And responding with growth and life to the call of the sun and the rain.
Completing its growth at last with a multiplicity of seeds.
Like its original seed.

The reaper comes and cuts down the stalk.
Gathers all of the stalks into bundles.
And tossed the bundles into a machine.
And out of a spout comes pouring grains, like flowing water.
That are gathered into sacks or tanks and borne away.

And at last the grains, rough, hard, flint-like, are cast again into bins.
And thence through great rollers and sieves and screens.
Growing finer and finer as the husk and chaff is cast away.
Until it emerges the fine powder you have in your palm.
Nourishing, strength-giving, clean, pure, refined.
Flour.

And as you contemplate the powder in your hand, you will, if you are imaginative, hark back to the seed and the soil and the sun and the rain and the reaper and the miller and all.

And of the refined and purified flour you will realize:

That it has been through the mill.

* * *

Then there is a heap of dirty looking brown earth, or what resembles that, lying in the enclosure.
Lumpy and uninviting.
Rusty looking and apparently valueless.

Then there is fire and furnace and smoke and flame and molten streams of red.
And strong men and ladles and rolling machines and sweat and cranes and puffing engines.
And then again a shining highway across a continent.
And you sit in the luxurious observation car and watch the shining highway converge in the distance as you glide smoothly over.

* * *

And if you have imagination you look back to the iron ore and the ore car and the heap and the fire and the furnace and the ladle and the slag and all.

And then again at the shining steel rails laid for you to travel upon.

And you know that the rail was the iron ore.
But it has been through the mill.

* * *

It has been refined, purified, alloyed, tempered, and made strong to serve.
The rusty looking heap has become the tempered steel.

Before you perhaps is the desk.
With its polished and smooth top.
Where the grain and curl stands out like a beautiful picture.
About which diplomats may discuss the problems of nations.
Or the statesmen of the world may gather for parley.
Back of the desk is the cabinet maker and back of the cabinet maker the wood worker and back of the wood worker the lathe and the plane and the saw.

* * *

And back of it all the great tree that has heard the call of life and the sun and the rain and the earth.

And the finished desk before you brings the same reflection.

It has been through the mill.

And there is the man who serves.
Resolute, earnest, industrious, merciful, kindly, thoughtful.
Asking little and giving much.
Purified, refined, strong, steadfast.

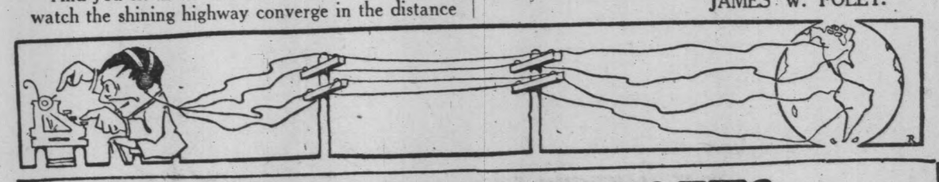
Once perhaps like the ore heap.
Or the flint-like grain.
Or the shaggy and sturdy tree.
Responding to the call of life and passion and grief and all of the things that develop and temper and refine.

* * *

And at last the chastened and humbled and refined and purified spirit.
That has been through the mill.

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

Too Late—By Dinah Mulock Craik (1826-1887)

Could ye come back to me, Douglas, Douglas,
In the old likeness that I knew,
I would be so faithful, so loving, Douglas,
Douglas, Douglas, tender and true.

Never a scornful word should grieve ye,
I'd smile on ye sweet as the angels do:
Sweet as your smile on me shone ever,
Douglas, Douglas, tender and true.

Oh to call back the days that are not!
My eyes were blinded, your words were few:
Do you know the truth now, up in heaven,
Douglas, Douglas, tender and true?

I never was worthy of you, Douglas,
Not half worthy the like of you:
Now all men beside seem to me like shadows—
Douglas, Douglas, tender and true.

Stretch out your hand to me, Douglas, Douglas,
Drop forgiveness from heaven like dew;
As I lay my heart on your dead heart, Douglas,
Douglas, Douglas, tender and true.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

[Syracuse Post-Standard]

The cause for which the unknown soldier died was the cause for which the conference is called, to destroy militarism, to release the nations from the ever increasing burden of armament, to institute a reign of law in the world in the place of the rule of force. In thanking God for the valorous lives given, let us pray for his aid that we do not sacrifice to our own distrusts or misunderstandings what they died to give us.

EASY COME, EASY GO

[Boston Commercial Bulletin]

A few days ago a man admitted as a pauper to a New York hospital was found to have been some years ago a jockey who earned a quarter of a million dollars by his success in riding race horses. The money so quickly won has melted away, and there is nothing left to provide for old age.

The so-called world championship baseball games have drawn attention to the enormous salaries paid to the star players of America, but it was only a few days before the first game of the series that a game was played for the benefit of a former member of the New York National league club.

The man was for ten years one of the highest salaried players in America. Nobody will grudge him the $40,000 that came from the benefit game, and it is to be hoped that he will win his fight against tuberculosis, but it seems a pity that the ball player, as well as the jockey, should have spent or lost all the big salaries he earned, so that he must depend on charity when ill and unable to work.

A very large number of ball players and actors die poor after receiving fortunes during the time of their success before the public. It is a case of easy come, easy go.

Some players are thrifty, but it would be almost betting on a certainty to wager that within ten years there will be another benefit game in New York, to relieve the poverty of one of the players now receiving a salary of $10,000 or more a year.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA M. STEWART

The vacation season is over. By hillside and ocean, river and valley, tired men and women sought change and rest. Some found it, some came back as tired as they went, to confront once more the struggle for existence. The idea that one must frae far afield to gain rest and recreation has gained a very strong hold indeed upon the American people.

New outlooks do bring new visions. Freshness of scene recreates—sometimes. But sometimes we forget that we can bring forth new vision from within—provided we equip ourselves with creative powers. We depend too much upon the outside influence, the outside scene. It's another part of the cost of our so-called civilization, the multiplicity of appeals to the outward senses, the rush of the daily activities.

It is entirely possible to live day after day amid the same scenes and worries and withdraw into ourselves for strength, comfort and recreation. It's possible to find new impulses, new possibilities within as well as without. The scope of the mind and the soul are broad indeed, if only we ou.selves do not limit them.

It's a mistake not to take time to probe our own mental depth. Why do we go through life depending on others for thoughts, suggestions as to action, opinions, even?

Why not plumb our own depths? We may find there latent the very inspiration and impulse we need.

Comment on the News

By HENRY JAMES

A Pacific Electric conductor running between Pasadena and Los Angeles was discussing human honesty. He didn't seem to think much of it.. He said that in the years of his service only two passengers had turned over to him valuable articles found in the cars. It was his opinion that a passenger who got a chance to annex portable property was likely to do it.

Conductors turn into the company all articles left by passengers, if light-fingered observers do not see the articles first. Even were a conductor inclined to be dishonest, he would not dare to act so. The apparently lost article might have been placed for the testing of his character.

Recently a commuter made some purchases just before taking the Pasadena train for Los Angeles. The package he carried contained garments for a lad of thirteen. He left the train at First and Main in the city, forgetting the parcel. Along Main the cars at that hour always fill with Pasadena-bound passengers.

Some such passenger took the parcel. It was not turned in to the conductor. It was not in the car when Pasadena was reached. It had been stolen.

Not very important, it is true; far more important as an index to human character than as to the loss occasioned. The little chap may wait awhile for his corduroy trousers. But what good will these be to the present possessor? He or she can't wear them. No normal parent would care to give his or her children the direct fruits of petty larceny.

Science has been chasing various germs, but seems to have paid scant attention to the busy little bugs of kleptomania.

Judge Landis of Chicago gave "Big Tim" Murphy the limit for conspiracy to rob the mails, but the limit wasn't much. The prisoner deserved sentences of twenty-five years on each o several counts, but the action of the jury fixed six years as the possible total.

Nobody supposes that a mail robber is capable of reform. He is locked up as a measure of protecting the mails. But the ... age jury perhaps is not beyond reclaim, and if the jury in this case appreciates the words of Landis concerning their conduct, they are bound to be better men.

It is pleasing to note improvement in any department touching the public welfare. Thus the fact that magistrates are checking the speeder is set down gladly.

Only a short time ago arrest for speeding was a joke. The offender paid his trifling fine with a smile, and resumed speeding.

Lately speeders have been getting jail sentences, at first light but admonitory. These were not sufficient. They grew to thirty-five days, jumped to seventy days, and now take a leap to 180.

At last for the pedestrian, and for the sane and sober driver, there dawns a day of hope.

For years, at irregular intervals, there have been reports of a great steel plant for this coast. This affords pleasurable reading to all who are interested in industrial development. There appear many reasons why such a plant would be logical and profitable.

HERRICK AGAIN UP FOR SOME RIDICULE

Oklahoma Member of Congress Being Sued For $50,000 By N. Y. Girl

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—"He told me he was 100 per cent pure and 98 per cent handsome." Miss Anna Elizabeth Niebel, former Follies beauty, poked her head between the curtains of her room here today and had that to say rgarding Congressman Manuel Herrick. She said he had boasted of his beauty, asked her to marry him and then failed to do it. She said this was the reason she had filed preliminary papers in a $50,000 breach of promise suit.

"I don't know about all he said—but I'm sure he wasn't 98 per cent handsome," Miss Niebel declared. "He didn't hold my hand and whisper sweet nothings in my ear. He didn't even get down on one knee when he proposed. He just said:

"'Kid, I like you and you like me—we'll get married.'

"I didn't think much of the idea but he told me he had piles of money and lots of oil wells out in Oklahoma, so I planned to marry him. I called in my mother and he said it over to her. He said, 'The kid likes me and I am going to marry her.' So we figured it was all fixed. The first I heard of him was when he was living in Washington, and he wrote me a letter telling me how handsome he was. I thought if he was so handsome I would look him over. He called at the house and I saw him several times. I didn't think much of him as a lover. He acted like a 9 o'clock fellow in one of these all-night towns."

NEW SYSTEM MAKE POLICE REPORTS

A new system of recording reports of patrolmen is being installed at the police station and will become effective within a few days. In the past all patrolmen and other members of the department have filed cards with the desk sergeant when going on duty. As each man calls in to make his hourly report his number and the box from which he makes the call is recorded on the card. The cards are approved and signed by Chief Martin and sent to the city treasurer at the end of each month. The city treasurer uses the cards in making up the payroll. In future the reports will be made on a long sheet with the name of each officer printed on it. Each sheet will have space for every officer's name for each day of the week. At the end of the week the chief will sign the report and hold it until the end of the month, when all will be turned in to the treasurer.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Camerer of 313 West Garfield avenue, accompanied by their house guest, Mrs. Jennie Roberts of New York City, motored to Long Beach on Tuesday, where they spent an enjoyable day. Mrs. Roberts remained in Long Beach for a few days, returning Thursday with her son, Lieut. Ralph Roberts, who is stationed on the U. S. S. Arizona. It is her plan to spend the winter here while her son is stationed in the harbor.

True men are always truthful men.

RESOLUTION NO. 1274

A RESOLUTION OF THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE ORDERING CERTAIN IMPROVEMENTS

RIGHT INFLUENCE IN UNIVERSITIES

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 18.—"One of the worst things that could happen to the universities of the United States would be the withdrawal of the Christian influence," declared Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University.

"It should be carried further, into the high schools as well. We cannot leave religion out of the lives of these young people at the very time when the purposes of life are being formed and decisions are being made.

"Last year we had over 2,000 Methodists in Ohio State. We had more than 1,400 Presbyterians. There are many schools of both these denominations with less students than that. The Church cannot give them a four-year vacation from church service and care.

"The State University represents the State. But it represents only the best ideals of the State, not the worst," President Thompson said.

POLICE INVESTIGATE

YUMA, Ariz., Nov. 18.—Police are investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Peter Johnson of Denver and the serious wounding of her husband, a contractor. The Johnsons were on their way to Los Angeles in an automobile. A stranger whom they picked up on the road is being questioned.

HE DID IT AGAIN

DENVER, Nov. 18. — Stanislaus Zbyszko, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, successfully defended his title here last night against Toots Mondt, Hocky Mountain title holder. The giant Pole took the first fall in one hour, eight minutes and 20 seconds, and the second in eight minutes and 50 seconds.

MANY NOTABLES ARE TO ATTEND THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

Glendale Theater be Scene of Brilliant Assembly This Evening

A number of notables will witness the three one-act plays to be given tonight by the Drama section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club at the Glendale theater under the direction of the section curator, Mrs. R. E. Chase.

The list includes Mrs. John C. Urquhart, president of the district federation of Women's Clubs; Madame Genevra Johnstone-Bishop, the prima donna of world renown; the Baron and Baroness de Ropp, who are lecturing on their native land, Russia; and Miss Pauline Stark, the greatly beloved little screen star whose mother and grandmother are life-long friends of Mrs. Chase.

Following is the list of patrons and patronesses of the entertainment which is an affair of considerable social importance apart from its dramatic interest: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Hyde Braly, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cowan, Mr. and Mrs. John Everson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hester, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Howe Mrs. John H. Ireland, Capt. and Mrs. D. Riley Jackson, Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rigdon, Mr. and Mrs Warren Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron D. Thom Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Turck, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Vesper, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Venske, Captain and Mrs. Thomas D. Watson, Mrs. Margaret Webb, Dr. Margaret M. York.

DEMAND HARDING STOP NAVY'S WORK

Pomerene Declares America Will Lose Place Unless Action is Taken

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—A demand that President Harding immediately stop America's big naval construction program came from congress today within an hour after the announcement by the British admiralty that it had suspended the proposed building of four new super-Hoods.

The United States will lose its prominent position in the arms conference if it does not at once follow the British example, said Senator Pomerene, Ohio, author of a resolution calling for a halt in America's program. Moves may be made in each house within the next few days to force action on such a resolution.

[redacted]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The United States will not follow Great Britain's lead in suspending work on part of its naval building, Secretary of the Navy Denby told the United Press today, after a meeting of the cabinet. Work on the construction of the great American battleships and battle cruisers will be carried on until it is determined whether a definite agreement for halting naval construction can be reached in the conference on limitation of armament, Denby said.

SCHOOL ASSEMBLY BOOST FOR DEBATE

George Jordan With Paul Hutchinson to do Battle For Glendale Tonight

There was an assembly at Glendale High this morning about 1 0o'clock to boost for the rally for the first league debate which takes place tonight when George Jordan and Paul Hutchinson will battle for the honor of the school against two representatives from Hollywood High who will come here for the contest, and Dale Wood and Kathleen Campbell will go to Hollywood to present the negative side of the question Attention was also called to the election which is taking place today to select a new cabinet officer, a secretary of girls' athletics. The two candidates are Miss Marjorie Yarick and Miss Dorothy Cotton, and the polls will close at 4 p. m.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

MEXICANS PASS ON BLAME FOR MICKS

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Nov. 18.—Railroad accidents are increasing in number in Mexico. Many causes are assigned for this condition, which is causing heavy losses to the lines, delay to shippers and peril to passengers. As there are two rival classes of railroad employes, each of these blames the other.

One body of workers was engaged at the time of the general railroad strike last February. These are accused of incompetency by the other employes, who were taken back after the strike failed.

The new workers retort by charging the older workers with carelessness. It is said that the real trouble is due to bad conditions of the tracks, caused by heavy rains and floods, and to the need of newer and better rolling stock.

NO NEW MAPS NOW BOARD'S DECISION

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 18.—The city school board here is not going to take any chances. The treaty of Versailles changed things in Europe a lot but until they decide to be peaceful over there and not kick over the diplomatic traces New Castle school kids will have to worry along with their old school maps.

A request for maps for the high school was turned down the other night by the school board. The board could not see where the European situation was settled enough to permit the buying of new European maps. They thought the students could get along with the old ones until the boundaries are finally settled.

A requisition for a dozen sets of scales to be used in taking the weight of pupils in the city schools was also turned down, along with a requisition for a Victrola and records for the high school.

TOM WATSON SAYS WHERE ARE POLICE?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Senator Thomas E. Watson is all "het up" over the scant consideration shown pedestrians by motorists in the District. When Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, was recently run down by an automobile while crossing a street, the outraged dignity of the Georgia Senator burst forth in the chamber of the Senate.

"I saw Senators jumping out of the way of those devilish motorcycles and other vehicles," vehemently shouted Watson, "and I saw a dog chasing a squirrel. There was no policeman around. Where are the police? Why don't they get outdoors and do something? These magnificent grounds should be safe for people to walk about. This Capitol and the flag behind us should stand for the sanctity of life."

MAKE NEW YORK FEW MILES LONGER NOW

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—T. K. Thompson, one of the most prominent engineers in New York, has put forward a plan to extend the Island of Manhattan six miles down New York bay, adding twelve miles of needed decks. The proposed extension would be "built up" with huge concrete walls on either side. Clearance for navigation on both sides would remain the same as it now is, according to Mr. Thompson. Governors Island would be taken in as part of Manhattan under the plan.

SIX ARE KILLED

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 18.—Six persons were instantly killed here early today when an automobile plunged over a 30-foot cliff. Five men and a woman were the victims and the skull of each was fractured. There were no other passengers in the car.

MEAT BALLS—CREAM SAUCE

Take a pound of chopped steak and spread on a dish, then dust it with pepper, salt and the uice of a large onion. Form into balls and press a lump of butter into the center of each. Melt a little butter in a shallow frying pan which has been wiped with a bud of garlic, and fry the cakes delicately. Have ready a rich cream sauce. Place the meat balls on a hot dish and turn the sauce over them. Garnish with potato cakes and serve apple sauce with this dish.

MINESTRONE SOUP

Put two quarts of mutton broth or stock into a saucepan and add to it a thinly sliced onion, a cup of chopped cabbage, two chopped carrots, a cup of chopped string beans, half a cup of peas, a chopped pepper, three chopped tomatoes, a ham bone or a small slice of ham, and a quarter of a cup of broken vermicelli. Cook gently for an hour and a half, season, and pour into a tureen which has been wiped with a bud of garlic. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese.

CHILDREN REARED IN A HOME WITHOUT MUSIC have missed, oh! so much of the really worthwhile things of this life! While, on the other hand, a child reared in a home wherein there is an Ampico, will grow up with an appreciation of the beautiful and best, for no one can live, day after day, in close communion with such masters as Leopold Godowsky, Leo Ornstein, Fritz Kreisler and hundreds of others, without coming to have a deeper understanding and higher ideals! And in the study of music you'll find an Ampico of inestimable value to your child, for there is always before him, yet always a little beyond, the ideal of perfection, and he will always strive to attain that degree of excellence which characterizes his favorite master! At the BARNES-SHUCK MUSIC CO, 211 N. Brand Blvd., you may hear the Ampico in the Knabe piano, in either the upright or baby grand! After once hearing the exquisite touch of the artists you'll never rest until you, too, have an Ampico in your own home, where, upon the mere pressure of a button, you may hear your favorite selection played with all the feeling and beauty requisite!

COFFEE THAT IS COFFEE—delightful to drink and fit to set before a king—is BOOTH'S SPECIAL BLEND COFFEE! Mr. Booth, who is popularly known as "The Coffee King," blends all of his own coffees—and really they are a treat! Stop in at his store, 318 E. Broadway, and take a pound home with you—once having used it you'll never be satisfied with any other. And Mr. Booth's teas, too, are a joy to those who enjoy their tiffin each afternoon—always tempting and refreshing—you can't find a more pleasing drink! And, you know, there are "tricks to all trades"—so ask Mr. Booth, while you're there, about the best ways of preparing teas and coffee—to obtain the most satisfying and healthful results. He'll gladly tell you!

Many fall garments will be pleated, it is reported.

* * *

DELIGHTFULLY ORIENTAL are the winsome little incense burners that are being shown this week at the GLENDALE PHARMACY, 638 E. Broadway! There are a number of attractive designs, in pottery and bronze—and among them one that caught my fancy—a squatty little Buddha! Of course, they have all sorts and kinds of incense in both the cube and stick form, and all the wanted odors! Thanksgiving cards, too—lovely numbers for the holiday season, are to be found in abundance at the GLENDALE PHARMACY!

* * *

IT REALLY SEEMS SO USELESS to go on, year after year, paying out exorbitant rentals, without having anything, at the end of the time, to show for your money, doesn't it? And, when you consider that VANDENHOFF of 205 North Brand boulevard has some excellent values in lovely little homes, which he will sell on easy terms! Just think with but a small payment down, the balance can be arranged as rent—and before long you'll have a home of your own! Mr. Vandenhoff also has some wonderful buys in lots and income property!

IF MILADY WOULD BE CHICLY attired for winter, she must have a smart choker of fitch, marten or squirrel. A soft fur inevitably softens the lines of the face and adds an indefinable charm to the plainest of gowns. Miss Bedell of the BEDELL SHOP, 1125 North Louise street, designs furs to fit one's own personality. She'll make you a handsome piece, either from your own skins,—or, she has an excellent supply from which you may make your selection! Miss Bedell also does expert repairing. Call her at Glendale 429-J.

EVERY WOMAN WANTS HER home to look its best when her guests arrive for Thanksgiving dinner! No, my dear, don't worry, even though your woodwork is all scarred and marred—for HARRY MOORE, of 304 East Broadway, has solved your little problem for you! Just step in and ask about Kyanize—it's absolutely the most wonderful varnish imaginable for floors, furniture or woodwork, and it can be had in any color you wish! Yes, indeed, you can do over your old bedroom set, or any other scratched-up old furniture—and I'll tell you this much—Kyanize will make it look just like new! Mr. Moore will tell you all about it, and just how you can use it yourself and obtain the most satisfactory results. Of course, Kyanize also comes in a Sparr varnish, for outside work, and do you know, neither wind, sun nor rain will in any way harm it. If you feel you can't afford to have the car re-painted this year, just buy some Kyanize Auto Finish in the color you want—and in just a few hours' time the trick's done—and you may be sure it is a job to be proud of! Stop in and see Mr. Moore next time you're up that way and ask him about the Kyanize varnishes!

INDEED SHE'LL BE DELIGHTED with a gift of dainty silk "undies" at Christmas time! At SHERROD'S SPECIALTY SHOP, 207 E. Broadway, you can buy the loveliest of gowns, combinations, and teddie bears, in all of the pretty pastel shades, at prices that range from $3.50 to $15.00! Mrs. Quackenbush will be glad to show them to you at any time!

* * *

ANY GIRL WILL APPRECIATE as a gift at the Yuletide an attractive bedroom set, such as I saw at the GLENDALE FURNITURE STORE, 606-608 E. Broadway, today! There are any number of different designs and finishes, but the one that captivated me was a lovely silver grey! You will find their prices very reasonable at the Glendale Furniture Store—and you know furniture is a pleasing gift that will endue to constantly recall the giver for many years to come!

* * *

Embroidery will be featured in henna, green and white for fall.

* * *

IF YOU WOULD BE HEALTHY, always, and wise—just phone Glendale 217 and order a bottle of the famous White Rose Spring Water today! The INDEPENDENT ICE CO., of 106 E. California Ave., will deliver it fresh to you!

* * *

Velvet and hatter's plush are being worn.

AT THE MISSION STORE, 107 W. Broadway, you'll find a lovely selection of Thanksgiving Place cards. Yes, and a fine supply of attractive greeting cards, both for Thanksgiving and Christmas, and pretty paper napkins for the holidays! Mr. Baines is now also showing a full line of Japanese goods, dainty perfumes and toys for both boys and girls. He is expecting his stock of Christmas tree novelties shortly. I'd advise you to make your selection now and have them laid away for you until Christmas.

THE ORIGINAL DRESSMAKING SHOP of 115 E. Broadway have a wonderful showing of charming new French paper models from Callot, Jenny, Hickson and Worth! You may select the style and materials you wish and they'll model it along the most becoming lines. In Miss Davenport's or Mrs. Chamberlin's skilled fingers even your old gown, sent to be remodeled soon becomes a creation. Their prices, too, are most reasonable.

Fan-shaped comb is a favorite and is very often seen either in amber or black accompanying a gown or scarf or something of lace.

LADIES' WORK is a specialty with the BRAND CLEANERS, of 217 S. Brand Blvd. Their workmanship is of the very best, and their rates very reasonable. You need never fear to trust them with the finest and daintiest of gowns and laces!

OF COURSE YOU'LL WANT a brand new set of dishes on which to serve that much-looked-for Thanksgiving dinner next Thursday! At NEALE AND GREGG'S HARDWARE STORE, 107 N. Brand Blvd., you can buy such lovely sets at prices that are unusually reasonable! They have a full line of handsome dinner sets, and also a wonderful open stock, from which you may replace any broken pieces in the set you now possess! You know, I've always found that a dinner is so much more enjoyable when daintily served on really attractive dishes—and such you'll find in abundance at Neale and Gregg's at prices that range as high as $25.00! Yes, and the "'cookery" end is most important at this season—and worthy of more than passing consideration. If you'll just stop in at Neale and Gregg's you can select everything from a basting spoon to a truly marvelous roaster for the turkey—they carry a full line of cooking utensils—of the very best materials and at most reasonable prices! You had better make your selection now while their stock is still complete, though!

FOR INDIVIDUALITY IN DRESSmaking, see Mrs. Brooks of the BROOKS SHOPPE, 123 North Brand boulevard. Mrs. Brooks is now prepared to serve her many friends and customers in the making of their new fall gowns. You know, they do PLEATING and HEMSTITCHING and make the loveliest buttons of any materials you may select. And her prices are most reasonable too!

ARE YOU GOING TO MAKE NEXT Thursday a Real Day of Thanksgiving for your wife? It can easily be done by having an A. B. C. Electric Washer delivered to her—she'll be simply overjoyed! WASHER WILSON of 140 South Brand boulevard carries the A. B. C. and I know you'll find it a source of untold comfort and satisfaction to your family for many years to come! It is a machine that combines the maximum of service and quality at the minimum of cost! Why, just figure it out for yourself—the amount of money that you now spend each week for laundry service, when applied on the price of an electric washer would soon pay it up—and then you'll have something to show for your money! You need never fear to trust the daintiest of lace curtains, or the heaviest of woolly blankets to the A. B. C., for they will be well done up—and without any of the usual wear and tear that characterizes most laundries' work. The large cabinet model, fully enclosed A. B. C. has been priced at $117.00 at Washer Wilson's—and for just a little more, you may have concenient terms! Step in and see Mr. Wilson today and pay a deposit on the machine you'll want—thus insuring its delivery.

TURKEYS, CRANBERRIES, 'N' everything! M-M-m-m-! That's what I found at NUSSBAUM'S GROCERY AND MEAT MARKET, 244 North Brand boulevard this morning! They have just received a special shipment of extra fancy New Jersey cranberries—wonderful for the familiar cranberry sauce with turkey! Or, of course, if you prefer it, they have the canned cranberries, too! And, it wouldn't be Thanksgiving without delicious baked sweet potatoes, would it? At Nussbaum's you'll find them at 6 pounds for 25c—just the size for baking, and there's grape fruit, 4 for 25c, and dates, figs, currants, raisins, walnuts, almonds, brazil nuts, and assorted nuts; in fact, everything, even maraschino cherries, and stuffed olives to make the Thanksgiving dinner a never-to-be forgotten feast! In the meat department you'll find fresh turkeys, chickens and ducks—all ready to be roasted. Better call them and leave your order.

DO YOU KNOW, I'm ashamed to confess up to the number of Quality Doughnuts I've eaten today! But when I stopped in at the QUALITY DOUGHNUT SHOP, 104 W. California Ave., they were just hot and fresh (as they are every day), and I simply couldn't resist them. They actually melt in your mouth! Call Glendale 220-J. and order a dozen today—they are pure as gold—made of wholesome and nourishing materials. You'll certainly enjoy them!

DEAD MAN WAS THEIR HUSBAND CLAIM OF MANY WOMEN

Hundreds of Leters Received by Administrator of Dead Man's Estate

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 18.—One hundred deserted women are claiming to be widows of K. L. Carson, he of seven aliases, who died in the Montrose Sanatorium, in Weaverville.

J. S. Styles, attorney for Dr. J. M. Crawford, who was appointed administrator for the deceased, needs another clerk to attend to his mail, since news of the demise of the "man of mystery" became public property.

Women from Maine to California have written their claims to widowhood through Carson's death. Every mail brings in more letters. "When the mail comes in from Europe next week I expect another avalanche," said Attorney Styles.

Carson died at the sanatorium of a lingering disease. Before the end he told attendants at the hospital that he had lived in a score of states and had married many women. J. R. Harrison, W. M. Brown, Jack Wilson were some of the names under which he lived and married.

After publication that Carson, self-styled mystery man with wives in every port, had confessed portions of his former life, the story, apparently, was espied by all the deserted wives of the United States, besides parts of Mexico and the West Indies.

They began writing in. The letters came singly, then in pairs, finally the postoffice began sending them over in neatly-tied bundles.

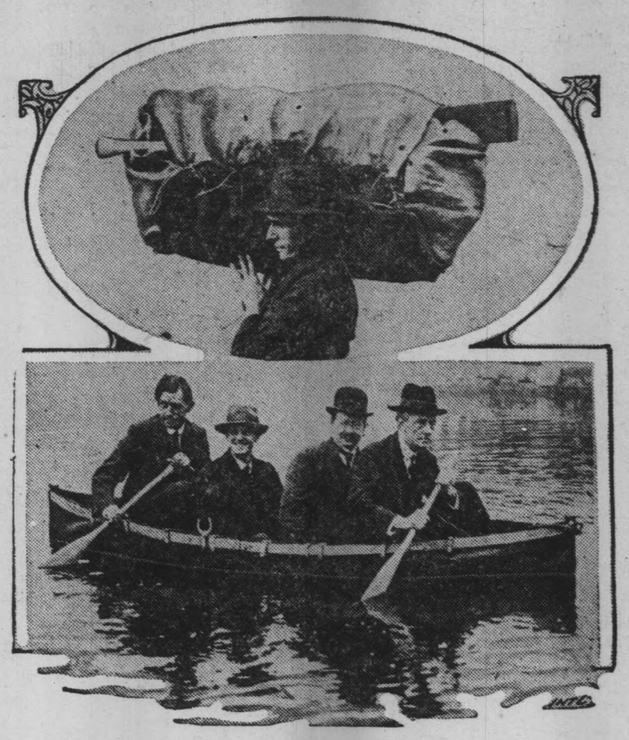
Pink stationery, violet stationery and legal stationery are among that which has poured into the office of the attorney here. Some thirty of them claim to be Mrs. K. L. Carson. Others say they were married to a man giving the name of "J. L., or some other Harrison.

If every woman who has written is the wife, legal or otherwise, of K. L. Carson, alias a dinfinitum, a new record has been set up in the matrimonial market as the records pertaining to King Solomon are somewhat indistinct. At all events Carson, if he is given the benefit of the doubt, ran King Sol a hard race, and after all precincts are reported may have a substantial plurality.

Attorney Styles is not disposed to play favorites. There is a possibility, slight though it may now appear, that Carson left an estate. Therefore the attorney has decided to let down the bars.

Half the little frets of life would vanish if we would only be silent about them and turn our attention to something else.

COLLAPSIBLE BOAT CARRIES FOUR PASSENGERS IN TEST



A collapsible boat, which Sir Curtis Lampson, noted English explorer, is taking on his new expedition to Africa, was recently tested at Camberwell, England. The little boat, which can easily be carried by one man, held four average-sized men during the test. The photos show the boat as folded and carried on the march and the four men in the boat during its test.

MEMBER OF FAMOUS LIGHT BRIGADE IS BURIED IN PENN.

John Ubalto, Hollander Was One Who Charged Russian Guns in 1854

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 18.—"One of the six hundred."

This is the brief but informative epitaph appearing on the tombstone of John Ubalto in the Beaver cemetery, marking the last resting place of one of the 198 survivors of the British "Light Brigade," made famous by Tennyson. Ubalto is probably the only one of the "noble six hundred" buried in America.

Sixty-seven years ago, October 25 1854, "into the valley of death rode the six hundred." Russia was engaged in an effort to wrest from the "Sick Man" of southern Europe, otherwise the Sultan of Turkey, a division of territory including Sebastopol in the Crimea. England threw her forces into the Crimean War to aid the "Sick Man." One of the most memorable battles was at Balaklava. Here it was, through some mistake, that the charge of the Light Brigade took place.

History states that 607 of the British cavalry took part in the charge. After an orgy of bloodshed, and a demonstration of bravery such as the world has seldom seen, the remnant of the command emerged, battered and torn. Only 198 survived. Ubalto was one of them.

Ubalto Was Storekeeper

After the war had ended the seared Ubalto came to the United States. He conducted a small store on Third street, near Insurance street, Beaver, for several years. He died in 1883. He was born in 1831 and was a Hollander, friends who still live in Beaver say. How he came to get mixed up in the conflagration sweeping southern Europe they do not know. His wife, Emilie, died in 1909, and her body reposes by his side.

The Beaver cemetery is the cemetery in which the late Senator Matthew Stanley Quay is buried.

Other notables found this justly famous cemetery their last resting place. Brigadier-General John S. Littell, a former Beaver man and a man who made his mark in the Civil War, was buried in Beaver. By some peculiar dispensation of fate, his grave remains unmarked to this day, though patriotic friends know where it is.

Colonel Richard Roberts, Colonel Quigley Anderson and a host of other heroes of the Civil War are also buried here.

Near the middle entrance gate to the cemetery is a modest little tombstone that ordinarily would not attract much attention. Yet it reveals a sad story, a tragedy of the Johnstown flood. Old timers remember it, and know the circumstances.

Carved on the stone is the epitaph and the story:

"Unknown girl, aged about three years, found in the Ohio River at Vanport, Pa., June 1, 1889. From Johnstown through flood and wreck, it came from that dark vale, and of the mother's awful fate there's none to tell the tale."

PRESIDENT'S WIFE, OPENING ARMISTICE WEEK, PLANTS ELMS

NORTH HOWARD TO BE OUT FIRE ZONE

Residents Petition Council to Extend Limits as Frame Houses Already Built

A protest from residents of a section of North Howard street, asking that their property be excluded from fire district No. 1, was successful, and the city council last night ordered the fire zone ordinance amended.

City Manager Reeves said that in his opinion the request to amend the ordinance should be granted. He said that the present ordinance forbids the erection of frame houses in the fire zone and, as property owners erected buildings on Howard street prior to the passage of the ordinance, the limits should be moved one block beyond Lexington drive. City Attorney Woodard was was instructed to incorporate this action, with other proposed amendments, to the fire zone ordinance.

Mrs. Clark Johnson reluctantly said goodby to her mother, Mrs. Weith, the early part of the week. Mrs. Weith had been the guest of her daughter during the absence of Mr. Weith in the East. He returned Monday and they left soon after for their home in Fresno. Mr. Johnson is still in Seattle but plans to leave there by steamer next Sunday. Mrs. Johnson is counting on his reaching home in time for the Thanksgiving celebration.

AMEND ORDINANCE PLUMBING PERMIT

Permit Dig Cesspools Must be Made Separate From Plumbing Permit

Amendments to the present plumbing ordinance were adopted by the city council Thursday night. The most important amendment is that separating cesspool digging permits from the plumbing permits and making it necessary for a separate permit for digging a cesspool.

According to Building Inspector Marek, it has been customary to issue a permit to dig a cesspool at the same time the plumbing permit was issued, and without charge. Endless work has been caused the department by this practice, and the amendment was adopted as a relief measure.

ARREST THREE MEN SEPTEMBER JOB

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18.—Three men were arrested here today in connection with the hold up of Beck's Hot Springs bath house, a fashionable Salt Lake City (Utah) resort, September 20, in which cash and jewelry valued at $20,000 were taken from guests. Those under arrest are Paul Murray, Knoxville, Tenn.; Howard Faber, Australia, and John Carr, Salt Lake City.

USING X RAY AS CURE FOR CONSUMPTION LATEST ATTEMPT

Russian Physician at Pasteur Institute Claims Discovery of Cure

PARIS, Nov. 18.—Dr. Ivan Manoukhin, a young Russian physician, known for some years at the Pasteur Institute here, claims to have discovered, by way of the X-rays, the long-sought cure, not only of pulmonary consumption, but of tuberculosis generally and of other infectious diseases whose elimination depends on the successful prosecution in the blood itself of the war against the invading microbe.

Dr. Manoukhin set out his method and the results obtained by him in the fullest detail, before the Society for the Study of Tuberculosis here, but his paper was in language so technical that I asked him, when I found him with his friend, Dr. Donat, to give me the essential facts in a few words easily understood by the uninstructed layman. This he kindly did.

"It is generally known," he told me, "that the work of the white corpuscles in the blood is to supply a sort of gendarmerie for the elimination of disease germs. Between them and the enemy an unceasing struggle is going on, and health cannot be maintained or restored unless the white corpuscles have definitely the upper hand. The cure of infectious disease depends, therefore, on the reinforcement of the white corpuscles, and this again depends on the release into the blood of certain soluble ferments which I call leucocytolysins. Years ago, I was able to show that these ferments are produced by the spleen, and it is by increasing the activity of the spleen by radiating the organ with small doses of the Roentgen rays that I claim to bring about the cure."

The war called the doctor to Russia. In all, 8,171 cases were treated by the radiation of the spleen, and of these, he told be proudly, only 68, or a good deal less than 1 per cent, died.

Since he returned to Paris a few months ago Dr. Manoukhin has had 22 patients under treatment. They have all been attendants at the clinic of Dr. Donat, who told me that all were of the poorer class. One is a postman, another a taxi driver, a third a baker, whose circumstances do not allow them to give themselves such care as is possible with some patients.

"I have nothing to do with the actual treatment," said Dr. Donat. "I recommend the cases simply, Dr. Manoukhin applies the rays and I observe the results. Of 22 cases, 14 were in the secondary stage, and after four months, or slightly less, I believe that I can say these are cured. The other cases are more serious and will need continued application of the rays, but you can say that they are all much improved and going on well."

NEW GEOGRAPHY

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—The state board of education has adopted the McMurry-Parkins advanced geography parts 1 and 2, as the standard for the seventh and eighth grades in California.

A theater party was enjoyed Thursday night by Mrs. Ortiz, Mrs. E. J. Morgan and her niece, Mrs. Alfred W. Bunnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Kelley, who sold their home on North Glendale avenue, are now established in the new home they built at 529 North Adams street.

Joseph Cave of 338 West Harvard street left this morning for Riverside, where he is connected with the Homer Brunn concert organization, which will play at the Mission Inn.

Tom Noble and his sister, Miss Carrie Noble, of Los Angeles, entertained at dinner last week Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cave of 338 West Harvard street and Mrs. Mabel Judd.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Morgan of 1125 South Central avenue have as their house guest for the winter Mrs. Alfred W. Bunnell from Lyme, Conn. Mrs. Bunnell is a niece of Mrs. Morgan.

Miss Ruth Spafford of Los Angeles, formerly of Glendale, had as her over-night guest, Miss Ruth Ryan of West Acacia avenue. Miss Spafford and Miss Ryan were members of a theater party, the other guests being from Los Angeles.

Mrs. H. M. Stafford and small son, Howard, Jr., have returned from a year's visit in North Carolina. Mr. Stafford will follow soon. Mrs. Stafford is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Bussing of 209 Dayton court. The Staffords are former residents of Glendale and went east to dispose of their property there. They now expect to make Glendale their permanent home.

SHOOTING MATCH

"And now, Rachel," the young man said, standing erect before her, "I shall insist upon the return of the diamond ring I gave you."

"Certainly, Mr. Hugginside," she replied, taking a pasteboard box from the mantelpiece and holding it out to him. "Pick it out from this collection of engagement rings, if you can tell which is yours, and take another one or two, Mr. Hugginside, for interest."

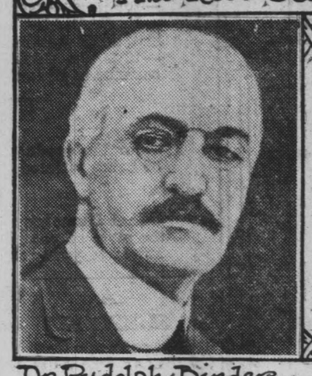
Detroit Mayor Starts Big Howl in Plan to Oust Wives

Miss Rose Schneidermann.



Dr. Rudolph Binder

Mayor James Couzens.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18. — Mayor James Couzens, of Detroit, wants to take married women out of office and simultaneously remove loafers from park benches. This is his proferred solution of the present problem of unemployment.

While many men are out of work, numbers of married women are earning good salaries. Whether or not apportioning one salary to a family or giving up a married woman's job to a single man would be feasible has aroused some discussion.

Miss Rose Schneidermann, head of the Women's Trade Union League, questions the advisability of the plan, while Dr. Rudolph M. Binder, professor of sociology at New York University is more in sympathy with Mayor Couzens' ideas.

"I am opposed to the idea of ousting these married women from their jobs to make way for idle men," Miss Schneidermann declared.

"The argument that they may not have to work is no more sensible than to say that there are many married men who don't have to work.

"Women's work as housewives and mothers has not been recognized or paid, and until the state does offer such recognition why should not women have the right to seek employment and be self-supporting if they want to?

"Married women have as much right to jobs and independence as single men have."

How Mr. Binder Views Case

We were wondering if some of the park bench idlers might not be the husbands of the married women with the good jobs, and if a wife's success in business doesn't often stultify a man's desire to achieve. With these questions we approached Dr. Binder.

"There is a good deal in the idea that a couple often does not get ahead in the world when both work," he said.

"Married women ought to be supported by their husbands, in any normally constituted society.

"It should be a man's job to look out for his wife and his children.

"Any society in which a married woman has to work presents an abnormal industrial condition.

"Women who look after their homes are amply employed. Houses require plenty of work to be presentable and comfortable homes.

"But I believe that there are few women working who don't have to be wage earners. If a married woman needs her job she should be allowed to keep it. It would not be right to take it away from her and give it to a single man who might be a 'bum' and not deserve it, nor be able to fulfill the requirements as well as the woman already in the position.

"That wouldn't be good for employers or employees.

"As for the married woman who works for mere pin money—or clothes money—to get finery with which to stir her neighbors to envy—she ought to be spanked.

Have Regular Spending Race

"If women earn money they feel they have the right to spend it. Then a husband with a salary-getting wife feels that he is freer to spend, too. Result—they both spend to the very limit of their rescources.

"There is nothing left. They have no right to live that way.

"If a woman decides to marry she should be willing to have children and care for her home.

"The pioneer women of this country raised big families, worked for those families, and conserved the result of the husband's labors."

Miss Schneidermann's Opinion

But, in opposition to Dr. Binder's theories, Miss Schneidermann emphatically states:

"If society women want to work, they also have the right. It is good for people's souls to have steady occupation. Of course, they don't have to work as far as finances are concerned, but rich men don't have to go down to offices and take up professions either, except for the satisfaction and self-respect they get out of honest endeavor.

"In many cases where married women work, when they don't need the money, there are circumstances existing that we don't know about. There may be something behind it.

"We have got to have a remedy for industrial conditions that produce idleness, but the only one so far—and it is the only palliative, not a remedy—is the 'unemployment insurance' proposition now widely used in Europe, where it has been tried and found effective. A small amount is given the unemployed — enough to keep them from being destitute.

"That would put the burden on the State and the employer. Without it the burden is all on the individual when business is slackened."

Mere Husbands Favored When Harding Shook Plums

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — President Harding is a terrible bane to the feminists, for he gives fair indication of lending his support to a movement to destroy the "Only Their Husbands Club."

Feminists must certainly rant when they see the president turning over the fruits of victory, not to the women who earned them, but to their husbands. That hardly seems to be keeping pace with the onward march of women, does it?

First came the incident of the South family. Mrs. John G. South of Kentucky, a woman of grace and ability, played an important role in the last political battle, and she played under the colors of the republican party. Her party won, and with the victory went the "plums," namely, numerous appointments. Did Mrs. South garner a "plum"? She did not. However, Dr. John G. South of Kentucky, who admits he is the husband of the well known Mrs. John G. South, was appointed minister to Panama. Of course no one knows—perhaps Mrs. South wanted to live in Panama, for the climate there is delightful, and the social activities are many. But it must be hard on the feminists—this business of turning the "plum" over to Friend Husband.

The Uptons, Too

Then, to further irritate the feminists came the case of the Upton family—the Uptons of Warren, O. You probably have never heard of George W. Upton, but you certainly have heard of Harriet Taylor Upton, well known writer. And if you are a woman and mixed in things political last fall you certainly heard of Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, member of the executive committee of the republican national committee.

As far as the women of the United States are concerned, Harriet Taylor Upton practically discovered the republican party. However, when they began shaking the "plum" tree, was Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton around to gather up the fruits? Nobody knows, but it is certain that Friend Husband was at least in the offing, for the president named him as a member of the federal trade commission, a neat little job, as jobs go in Washington, paying a modicum of something like $7500 a year and giving one of a retiring nature opportunity to be a part of the picture, without being in the front row. Again, no one knows—maybe Mrs. Upton wanted to live in Washington, and she asked for this plum for her husband.

What the feminists want to know, however, is why the wives couldn't have taken these appointments. They are of the opinion that some one has done the cause of woman an injury, but they don't know just who should bear the burden of the blame.

Oh, well, perhaps if Governor Cox had been elected, George Bass would have been secretary of state, and you never heard of him, did you?

GIRL HIKES ALONE ACROSS THE CONTINENT TO SECURE A DEGREE IN NEW YORK CITY

Covering the long, long trail, by way of the railroad track, to her goal, New York City, the greatest city in the world, Miss Theresa Thromp of Ferndale, Wash., has arrived in New York. Miss Thromp hiked her way across the continent alone, to the metropolitan city, in order to attend Columbia University, where she will study for a doctor's degree in phliosophy. The above photographs of Miss Thromp typify part of her daily routine on her walk. We see her getting food for breakfast, a succulent trout from an icy brook, then washing up at a roadside brook. She cooks her meals on a bonfire, and then, tramp, tramp, tramp, she continues along the railroad tracks to her destination.

Ask Nation-wide Weather Reports For Use of Fliers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Dissemination of nation-wide weather forecasts, specialized and adapted to the use of fliers, and the establishment of a transcontinental system of air routes are among recommendations submitted to Secretary of Commerce Hoover by aircraft manufacturers of the United States as requisites for safe flying and the prevention of serious accidents in commercial aviation.

Twelve hundred aircraft were engaged in commercial flying in this country during the first six months of 1921, according to the report to the Commerce Department, and in this period there were forty bad accidents, exclusive of injuries to Government-owned machines. These mishaps resulted in the death of fourteen persons and the injury, more or less seriously, of fifty-two. In eighteen instances there were no casualties.

In addition to their suggestions for Government weather reports and air routes, the manufacturers pointed out that flying could only be made safe by the use of sound machines, with engines of sufficient power to operate satisfactorily, and that air ports and emergency landing fields sufficiently close together to insure gliding to safety were also necessary. The need for competent, conservative pilots was likewise stressed.

Seventeen of the forty accidents during the first half of the year were attributed to the pilot, either because of carelessness, incompetence, bad judgment or for other reasons.

"There is no doubt," it was stated, "that a good pilot can guide a poor machine to safety with greater chance of success than a poor pilot can operate a first-class craft. Therefore, at the very top of the list of Government needs is placed the examination and licensing of pilots.

"During the war more than 17,000 young men were trained to fly. The art of flying can not be retained perpetually without practice, nor can it be maintained at a high degree of competency without regular examination."

Inadequate landing fields or the total lack of landing facilities are blamed for ten of the accidents.

The Army Air Service points out in this connection that the Government acquired many terminals during the war, but that most of these have now been abandoned. The remainder have been added to the Air Mail cities or private enterprises, but the United States is lacking in air ports for even the 1,200 commercial craft in operation. A survey made by the Manufacturers' Aircraft Association discloses that in the United States and its possessions there are only 271 land and water air terminals, many of which are concentrated in certain localities. Of the 271 listed air ports 145 are controlled by municipalities, sixty-nine are privately owned, and the others are a part of the Army and Navy air services and the Air Mail of the Post Office Department.

"While only two accidents are attributed to the lack of weather reports and two to the lack of clearly-defined routes or limitations in traveling between or over cities," the Air Service declares, "it is certain that aerial transport cannot develop until these factors are met. As an illustration, two of the worst accidents in our flying history are attributed to these causes. As one was naval and the other military they cannot be included in the civil table, although in their results they are as harmful to civil flying prospects as though they had occurred to private individuals."

The Air Service calls attention to the fact that stunt flying was responsible for half of the reported accidents, and asserts that "stunting is necessary to testing and essential to warfare—and it is believed advisable that all pilots know how to stunt, so that in case of an emergency, when only a stunt will save their craft, they will be able to act quickly. The habit of stunting is dangerous, fatal in many instances, and always harmful to civil flying.

"A Government system of control, limiting stunting to certain areas," the statement continues, "will meet this unfortunate menace to aeronautics."

The Air Service also points to a number of accidents from "unknown causes" and says that the "hope of preventing accident depends on learning, then correcting, the cause of each, it being evident that Government authority is required to obtain information in such cases."

WATCH YOUR FOOD IS WILEY'S ADVICE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 18.—"Nearly all diseases which take us off before our time have their origin in dietary deficiencies," declared Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, in an address here.

"If we want to build up human vitality, if we want to resist disease, if we want to live healthy, useful and, especially, long lives, we should study carefully that problem which most nearly affects these things, and that is food," continued Dr. Wiley.

"By the study of food I do not mean the traditional study of food, or what your doctor tells you, but what the scientific dietitian tells you. If we have that kind of advice we will lay the foundations for that great work of human uplift, so far as prolonging human life is concerned, which will mean so much to the health and prosperity of the nation."

GERMANS NOW USING GLIDERS PLACE OF AIRPLANES

One Recently Goes Five Miles Merely by Use of Wings by Operator

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Germany is forbidden to fly, so she is learning to glide. The ban on the installation of engines in aeroplanes, imposed by the peace terms, has produced a new type of locomotion. This is the astonishing news brought home by Mr. Handley Page, who has been paying a visit to Garsfeld, on the Bavarian border.

"German aeroplane constructors have turned their attention to the development of aircraft with no engine propelling power," said Mr. Handley Page, "and they are producing substantial results. The gliders are of various types. One called the Munich has made the longest flight of five miles. It has no engine, propeller, under-carriage, wheels, atlerons or elevators. It possesses simply the fuselage and movable wings, operated by the pilot.

"Another machine, called the Hanover, has given the best performance in turning in the air and is peculiar in that it lands on two footballs and has pneumatic shock absorbers attached to the wings. The Aachen type lands on skids instead of wheels. Shock absorbers are fitted, but the landing speed of the glider can be reduced to little more than a fast walk, and wheels become unnecessary.

"The method of launching machines for a flight is very interesting. The machine is placed on a suitably selected piece of sloping ground. A rubber cord is attached to a rope, which is passed round the chassis legs. Three men strain the rubber cord, which, when it reaches the necessary tension, is released, and the machine is shot away as from a catapult."

TEACHER IS FIRED FOR WORKING EXTRA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—'Ere's a 'ot one!

One of the public schools here boasted of a woman janitor, the only one in town. This was possible because the heat was artificial and there was no furnace to stoke. Her duties were sweeping the building, mopping the floors, and so on.

All went well until complaints began pouring into the office of the superintendent of schools that the lady janitor was conducting classes in typewriting.

The versatile janitor-teacher's resignation has been requested and a warning issued to all local school principals that public school employes, however talented they may be in other directions, must be held strictly to their ratings.

FORD SEES DOOM ALL GOVERNMENTS IF PARLEY FAILS

Plenty of Work for All Without Building War-ships

(Copyright 1921 by the United Press)

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 18. — "Any government that resists disarmament will be overthrown by its people," said Henry Ford when asked by the United Press for his opinion on the work of the conference in Washington.

"All armaments must go," he said, "on land as well as on sea. If the governments don't eliminate it, the people will. The proposal of the United States is a fine minimum step, but it is only a minimum step and marks merely the beginning of real disarmament.

"There is plenty of real constructive work for the thousands and even millions of men now engaged in the useless labor of maintaining the monstrous navies and armies of the world. There is no reason why everybody that is willing to work shouldn't have work and have a home to live in.

"There is any amount of work in the world, but it must be released so the workers can get to it. It's frozen now in the same way that bankers spoke of frozen credit some time ago.

"If politicians can't find a way of releasing the work of the world to the workers I am going to interest myself enough in politics to attempt to find it for them.

"To begin with, all the naval and army raw material could be quickly turned into useful machinery. This would employ the men involved for a considerable period.

"I could junk the battleships of the world and turn them into tractors. If the United States government and other governments in the world would cease this terrific waste on war material and turn only a fraction of it into international improvements, no willing worker in the world would be forced to go idle," Ford continued.

"The great danger that the governments of the world are facing is the crushing weight of interest charges. Interest on the war debt of the world is sucking the vitality of the nations. It must be stopped. And it is creating a class of idle men who want to work, but there is no work for them to do. At the same time, it is creating a parasitic leisure slass, a horde of non-producers who are living on this interest, creating a new 'interest aristocracy' that if allowed to continue will threaten the democracy of this country.

"Gold has lost its potency as far as it is any factor in the prosperity of a nation. I have about come to the conclusion that gold is not the proper basis for currency. The basis for currency should be labor.

"Here's a suggestion that I am going to make to the government at Washington:

"If they accept my plan for the Muscle Shoals project they will have to spend $40,000,000 to complete the project. If they issue 4 per cent, 30-year bonds, to do this before the period of my lease expires and those bonds and the subseuent refuqnding bonds are paid out, the people of the United States will have paid out almost $138,000,000 in interest on those bonds alone.

"Now, why not issue $40,000,000 of United States currency based on the value of the Muscle Shoals project. Use that money to pay for the labor and material that will go into the project, which when completed will be worth thousands of millions to the people of this country. I am told that it would require two barrels of gold to make forty million dollars. Isn't the Musle Shoals project better and more solid security than the raw gold? Gold, after all, means nothing but a symbol of value.

"Money isn't the sacred cow that it was ten years ago. The people of the world have discovered that money doesn't mean anything much unless real value is behind it and the only real value that counts is labor value."

THE HUMPHREY
RADIANTFIRE
IS A GOOD GENIE TO CHILDREN

—for it conserves the most important thing on earth—their health.
—Its RADIANT heat sends its warmth to the corners of the room and bathes the floor instead of merely making a path of heat.
—It is like CALIFORNIA SUNSHINE on cold, damp days, and it means health insurance to little folks and invalids.

THERE IS NOT THE SLIGHTEST TRACE OF DISAGREEABLE ODOR

—for the products of combustion are carried off in such a way that the air, instead of being vitiated, is actually purified.

BEAUTY IS A PRIME FACTOR

—that Humphrey has likewise built into RADIANTFIRE gas fires. No matter what the style of your house, there is a Humphrey RADIANTFIRE model that is perfectly suited to your rooms.

A SURPRISE!
—awaits every woman who visits the RADIANTFIRE demonstration this week.
—Ask your distributor about it.

—Your RADIANTFIRE distributor has all of these models on display for you during this special Humphrey RADIANTFIRE WEEK.
—He will explain just why this heat has the pureness of California sunshine!

Roy Gardner Tells Story of Escape From McNeil's Island

Famous Bandit Will be Taken to Leavenworth Where He Will Serve Balance of 25-year Term; Says He Will Raise $100,000 Bail Bond

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 17.—Roy Gardner, "bandit of bandits" will probably be taken to Leavenworth, Kan., today, to serve out the unexpired balance of his term for mail robberies.

United States Marshal Thomas Flynn announced that Gardner would not be returned to McNeil's Island, near Tacoma, from which he escaped on September 5. Flynn said the department of justice at Washington had instructed him to take the daring mail bandit to Leavenworth federal prison.

Gardner may not be tried for his latest attempted robbery of a Santa Fe mail car, Flynn said.

Pending decision on this point, Gardner's bail has been set at $100,000. "I'm going to raise it, too," Gardner said today.

Gardner told Sheriff Montgomery the story of his escape on Labor Day, and his life since then.

Gardner said that for three days after he escaped from the guards during a prison baseball game, he hid in the prison barn and later swam to the mainland. He hid in the hay loft of the barn, he said, and twice while he was there, he declared, he heard the steps of guards who were searching the barn for him.

Was Wounded Twice

He was wounded twice during his dash from the guards, he said, one bullet striking him in the right lef and another hitting him in the left leg. He had to stay on the island until the wounds were nearly completely healed, he said.

The food and drink problem was solved for him by a herd of cattle owned by a big dairy on McNeil Island, he continued. There were about forty milk cows in the herd and every night Garner would slip from his hiding place and go milking. He had lost an enormous amount of blood from the wound in his right leg, he said, because he was unable to stanch the bleeding until it clogged up. The wound in his left leg did not cause him so much trouble, although the bullet had brought him to the ground when the guard fired, he said.

After remaining three days in the loft, Gardner said, he slipped out and hid in the brush for two days, when he made the attempt to swim the channel. He did not disrobe but plunged into the cold water at ebb tide and made the two-mile swim.

Cold Water a Bracer

"The cold water acted as a bracer," Gardner said, "because I was pretty weak from loss of blood but the cold did not bother me once I got into the water."

Gardner said he reached San Francisco about September 28. He said he met no trouble in his long trip to Phoenix and got into a tight place with pursuers only once.

"That was in Raymond, Wash.," he continued, "where I got jammed up with a party and had to leave in the night. I took a machine and drove to Portland."

Gardner said almost the entire trip through the West and Middle Western states was made on a motorcycle which he obtained in Oregon City, Ore., which he reached in a 20-mile trip on an interurban line after leaving the automobile in which he drove to Portland.

His only disguise was to bleach his black hair to a reddish tinge. Whenever he rode the motorcycle he wore a pair of tinted glasses.

Throughout his trip Gardner slept out of doors most of the time, but on occasions stayed in lodging-houses, as he has since he came to Phoenix, 23 days ago.

At Medford, Oregon

Gardner stayed in Medford, Ore., three days, he said, and in Redding over night. Leaving Redding the next day he started for Napa, Cal., where his wife and baby were. After one night in Napa, he left for Bakersfield, where he stayed over night and next day started for Los Angeles. That was about four weeks ago, as nearly as Gardner could recall the time.

He had been traveling on the motorcycle until the engine froze between San Juan Capistrano and San Diego. So he abandoned the machine and caught a freight train on which he rode to San Diego. After two days there he went to Mexicali, Lower California, reaching the Mexican town about 27 days ago.

Asked by Sheriff Montgomery why he did not remain in Mexico, where he would have been safe from arrest, Gardner replied that there was no money down there and that he couldn't compete with Mexicans for work.

"I could have existed down there, I suppose," he said, "but then you can exist in the penitentiary."

Stayed in Mexicali

He stayed three days in Mexicali and then started for Phoenix by way of Yuma and Maricopa, Ariz., he said.

"I always get caught like this," Gardner said, "but I'd just as soon be caught in a one-horse town as in San Francisco."

It was found at the police station that the first two shells in Gardner's gun contained small shot and would, if they hit a man, overpower him without injuring him, if shot at a range of several feet. Gardner explained that the reason he didn't use the gun was that he had it pressed against Inderlied's stomach so closely that the bullet would have penetrated his body and might kill him instead of merely rendering him harmless for the next few moments.

DEBS HAS FRIENDS WITHIN HIS PRISON

Old Man Says Atlanta Prison Best He Has Ever Seen in Travels

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—While it has been said prison life has been hard on Eugene V. Debs, Socialist leader of America, now in the United States penitentiary here, a good look at Mr. Debs shows that no hardships are evidenced upon his genial brow. Watching what he believes his swiftly receding days of confinement pass by, Mr. Debs is still philosophical.

When visited here by a newspaper man, his broad smile spread over his kindly face, and when asked how he liked the place he said it was far the best prison he had ever seen.

"You know, I have been in a great many prisons over the country," he said with a smile, and hastened to add, "though not as an inmate. I have visited them, for a good many of my friends have been confined.

"As for myself, it is true that I have been incarcerated in another penitentiary, and also a few jails, but that was something probably inevitable in my life."

Mr. Debs is a great favorite in the prison. Almost every man is his friend, and he is said to never tire in his efforts to do what he can towards lightening the burdens of fellow inmates.

There is power in love to divine another's destiny better than the other can, and by heroic encouragements to hold him to his task.

BROTHERHOOD PLAN CAUSES CHURCHES ASK FOR ADVICE

Arthur G. Lindley Invited to Address Various Churches Through State

The Glendale plan of organizing and conducting brotherhoods is being much advertised and adopted. Arthur G. Lindley of this city, president of the Federation of Brotherhoods here, is being sent for to make addresses relative to the matter in many California churches. Recently he went to Hanford to explain the plan and assist in the re-organization of a brotherhood there. He also attended a banquet in Monrovia for the same purpose and was a speaker at a gathering at the Washington Street M. E. church of Pasadena. At each place they adopted the Glendale plan and re-organized their associations to make them conform to it.

Last week Mr. Lindley spent two days at San Diego inspecting the constructive work on two churches for which he prepared the plans. From there he went to Escondido where a church he planned is so nearly completed it will be ready for dedication the first Sunday in December. Mr. Lindley's church at Reedley is finished and will be dedicated next Sunday, and the church he has been supervising at East Bakersfield will be dedicated the first Sunday in January.

His most interesting commission of late has been working on the drawings for a $50,000 Sunday school building for the First Methodist church of Whittier. Its ground dimensions will be 40 by 128 feet; it will be of hollow tile, and three full stories in height, with an additional story in the roof.

He is completing drawings for the East Forty-eighth Street Methodist church in Los Angeles, and for a church of Spanish type at Needles.

KANSAS LIGHTNIN STRIKES GLENDALE

Arrive in City to Make Home, Start Work Before Engine Cools Off

Kansas is famous for her sunflowers and is on the road to fame as a producer of the fastest workers when it comes to putting through a real estate deal. Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bane and W. H. Franklin arrived in Long Beach after driving overland from Parsons, Kan. They liked Long Beach fine but wanted to locate in a city of higher altitude, farther from the ocean. Some one told them of Glendale and Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock they drove up in front of the Glendale Realty Co. and met R. N. Greenlaw, one of the salesmen.

Mr. Greenlaw took the party out on Geneva street in the 600 block and showed them two lots. Immediately the men decided they wanted to locate in Glendale and closed the deal for the property. When the deal was closed, they told Mr. Greenlaw that as they were going to make Glendale their home they might as well establish banking relations while here. The cashier of a local bank was called and came downtown and opened the bank, where the men from Kansas deposited their funds.

Early Wednesday morning the new Glendalians returned to the Glendale Realty Co.'s office and asked where to go to obtain water service. The same day they erected tents on their property and moved in. On Thursday morning they had the water turned on and two large loads of lumber were on the lot. After breakfast the two men, who follow the carpenter trade, started work on the new home.

A. E. Rommell of the Rommell Construction Co. was so impressed with the speed of the two Kansans that he offered them jobs as carpenters for him as soon as their own home is completed.

JUSTICE HART HAS SWEARING RECORD

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 18.—He's the champion swearer of California—is Elijah C. Hart, justice of the third district court of appeals of Sacramento. He has been heard to swear with some of the state's most notable men, and nobody has ever remonstrated or tried to stop him from swearing. Justice Hart's latest swearing feat was accomplished when he swore in Lucien Shaw of Los Angeles as chief justice of the state supreme court.

He swore in Hiram Johnson as governor twice. He swore in Governor Stephens twice as governor and once as lieutenant-governor. And former Lieutenant-Governor A. J. Wallace of Los Angeles is another whom Hart swore into office.

For a number of years Hart has sworn in the legislatures, but always completed by asking the chaplains of the senate and the assembly to pray. Hart has been on the appellate bench here for the past 15 years and for the ten years preceding was superior judge of Sacramento county. He is the champion swearer of California—yet his friends declare Hart is not a profane man.

BELIEVE CONVICT IS NOW PERISHED

REDDING, Nov. 18.—E. F. Murray, convict who escaped several days ago from the state convict road camp in Trinity county, was believed today to have perished in the snows which have been falling in Shasta and Trinity counties. Alfred Wilterwood, of Sacramento, who escaped with Murray, was caught last night on Grizzly Mountain by Sheriff Charles Bigelow. Wilterwood believes Murray is dead. Bigelow today organized a pack train and started from Weaverville to search the mountains for Murray, planning to remain on the trail until he finds the convict, dead or alive.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAS W. FOLEY.

THE OLD TIMER

He was grizzled and old and storm-beaten; his long coat was shiny and frayed;
His hair hung down over his collar and his tie was the kind that is made
With a flourishing bow and two streamers; his trousers were baggy and worn,
And the cuffs of his shirt that protruded were spotted and threadbare and torn.
His voice was a cracked and a weak one, but his handshake was earnest and strong,
And he took my right hand and he shook it and wrung it and held it for long:
"I'm a newspaper man," he confided, "and I may seem to be on the shelf,
But I started way back in the sixties with old Horace Greeley himself."

"I'm a newspaper man," so he told me, when the hour of the lecture was through.
"I have read all your stuff in the papers and feel well acquainted with you.
You would not remember mine, likely—it was long before you and your day,
And the boys who'd be apt to remember have, most of them, long passed away.
But it's good to see youngsters like you are—" (I'm mighty near fifty right now),
"Out lecturing home folks and reading; it brings back the old days somehow.
When we were, like you, in the harness, and the spirit of dreaming was high,
The days when a boy like Bill Niley was out on the road wtih Jim Rye."

Yes, that's how he said it, I'm certain, and he smiled not and neither did I,
For he was in earnest about it, if he had twisted Riley and Nye;
The light of old days was upon him, and the weight of his years seemed to yield,
And he told me of once when in Denver he worked on a paper with Field.
"I knew the whole lot of those youngsters"—and his eye, it was misted and wet,—
"Sam Clemens and Nye and Jim Riley and Field and Ben King and Burdette.
I've lent 'em a dollar and borrowed from dollars to quarters and dimes,
And when you were talking this evening it kind o' brought back those old times."

Then he thanked me again and sincerely, with a handshake, a good one and strong,
And wished me good luck as he left me and passed on his journey along.
And I thought, as he turned, in his dim eye I saw, yes, a tear drop to shine,
And I knew when he went where another was welling and shining in mine.
The frayed coat and baggy, worn trousers, the gray hair and long, flowing tie,
And the youngster who once borrowed quarters and lent them with Riley and Nye.
I watched him walk on and I wondered—those gray locks and funny old clothes!
And yet—twenty years from now I might—yes, just like that, I might—who knows?

COL. SWEET HERE TO MAKE THIS HOME

World War Medal Man Will Address Pasadena Post at Its Next Session

Glendale has one of the 188 men who are possessors of the United States congressional medal, awarded only for deeds of extreme bravery and beyond the call of duty on the firing line. Col. W. Sweet who, during the World War, was commander of the Second U. S. Engineers in France, has joined the sales force of the George T. Smith Co., Glendale agents for the Overland and Willys-Knight motor cars.

When asked about his career in the army and especially how he won the congressional medal, Col. Sweet looked bashful and said: "It was nothing, nothing spectacular, I assure you." That is all he would say. Col. Sweet is going to talk to the members of the Pasadena Post of the American Legion and it is more than possible that he will address the members of Glendale Post No. 127 in the near future.

K. OF C. SMOKER WAS SUCCESS WEDNESDAY

After a short business meeting Wednesday night the Knights of Columbus entertained their members and friends at a smoker and entertainment. Several entertainers from Los Angeles assisted the home talent in an excellent program of songs, recitations and short comedy sketches. This was an open meeting and about 70 members and their friends were present. After the business session the "smokes" were passed around and then came the entertainers. Each act was vociferously applauded and forced to respond to several encores. Among a program of excellence it would be hard to name one act or actor and say "that was the hit of the evening," so the guests admitted that every act was a star attraction and let it go at that.

Frank Dunn, the new lecturer for the council announced that he had made plans for several entertainments during the month. One of these will be in the form of a Christmas Jinks and will be one of the best entertainments.

SOME BABY

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The baby wildcat presented Marshal Foch during his western tour and dubbed by his New York keepers "the little marshal" because of his fire and his drooping military moustache, eventually is to bcome a naturalized Parisian, with a residence on the famous Jardin des Plantes.

BOGART IS DEAD

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—John B. Bogart, aged 75, former city editor of the New York Sun, under Charles A. Dana, died today. Mr. Bogart, who was known as one of the foremost journalists of the country, succumbed to an attack of diabetes.

BLAND WILL OPEN GROCERY SATURDAY

New Market Will Fill Need in North Glendale Section Tomorrow

Saturday, November 19, J. S. Bland, formerly of Enid, Okla., will open a new grocery, fruit, vegetable and meat market at 543 North Brand boulevard. This is at the southwest corner of Brand and Doran street. It will be in the new store building and will be patronized largely by the residents of the North Glendale section.

Others associated with Mr. Bland in the market and who will have charge of the various departments are all experienced men in their various lines. Mr. Bland's son, T. W. Bland, and Mr. Stubbs, also of Enid, Okla., will be connected with the grocery department. C. R. Yokum, also of Oklahoma, will have charge of the fruit and vegetable department and the meat market will be under the supervision of Messrs. P. and T. Cannell, who have operated a similar business in Garvanza successfully for several years. All of the men connected with the new market have purchased property in Glendale.

CITY OFFICERS IN TARGET PRACTICE

City officials, members of the police force, and special officers went to the rifle range in Sycamore canyon Wednesday afternoon for their first try at the new bobbing target. No record was kept of the score but several misses were chalked up against some of the expert shots.

The practice was rapid fire shooting and the gunner had to draw his revolver and fire five shots at the target within 10 seconds. Each man was given three trials. Officer Walker hit the target four times, Councilman Stephenson hit it three times and Mayor Robinson registered two hits, Among the police officers, Motorcycle Trautwein made high score.

While the contestants did not hit the target as many times as they missed, it was agreed that had they been shooting at a man every shot fired on the range Wednesday would have been effective as each shot either hit the target or the ground where the legs would have been had the target been life size. The target represents the head and shoulders of a man and after a period of 10 seconds is turned out of range.

LAND OF MANY LANGUAGES

India is said to be "the burning heart of Asia." That is to say, it has a genius for religion that is unsurpassed. Of the four great faiths which had their genesis in Asia, three were born in India. It is a land of 147 languages. Some of them are spoken by only a few people, but there are ten of these languages, each of which is spoken by 10,000,000 or more. Of every 100 people in the world, 18 live in Indian. The latest census of India gives the population as 318,132,537.—Indiapaolis News.

RICH, YET KEPT POOR

NEW YORK.—Heiress to a fortune estimated as high as $50,000,000 and yet without sufficient means to spend for her proper education and support. This is the plight of a "poor little rich girl" in real life—Jacqueline Lebaudy—as revealed by an application made to Surrogate Howell, in Nassau county, for a paltry $40,000 from her father's estate. The 16-year-old daughter of the eccentric Jacques Lebaudy, self-styled "Emperor of Sahara," who was slain on January 11, 1919, by his wife, Marie A. Lebaudy, in their home at Westbury, L. I., is one of the richest girls in the world. But despite the vast fortune that rightfully belongs to her, Jacqueline has been unable to enjoy the comforts and luxuries to which a girl of her wealth would naturally be entitled. For 20 months not a cent was collected from the estate by the widow. Seemingly endless litigation extending from the courts of Nassau county to France, Chile, Bolivia, England, South Africa and many other points have delayed settlement of the estate. And because of the law's delay Jacqueline has found herself, not exactly impoverished, but powerless to get possession of even a small part of the great fortune that is hers.

EIGHTY SHRINERS TO FORM CLUB HERE

Quarters Will be Secured and Club Formed Within Few Days

C. E. Neale makes the announcement that 80 Shriners of Glendale have signified their willingness to join the Shrine Club being organized here and have signed the membership list. There are many out-of-town members of the Shrine who have not yet signed the list, and it is to them that Mr. Neale is issuing the invitation to call at the Neale & Gregg Hardware store and sign the membership roll.

As soon as quarters can be found for the club a meeting will be called. Mr. Neale says that the finding of suitable quarters will be an easy matter. The call to the first meeting will probably be issued within the next week. The purpose of the Shrine Club is to bring members of the Shrine from all parts of the country together for social purposes. There will be dances, card parties and other entertainments planned for the Shriners and their families during the winter.

A RARE BIRD

"What have we here?"

"A letter to the editor."

"But it's more than a column long."

"Our correspondent says he has never writen a letter to the editor before, and he thinks he's entitled to some consideration."

"There's something in that."

PARENT-TEACHERS MET ON WEDNESDAY

Community Tree is Planned for La Crescenta Christmas This Year

LA CRESCENTA, Nov. 18.—The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held at the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon the president, Mrs. S. B. Young, presiding. A splendid program was given by the school children. The association voted to have a community Christmas tree, and Mrs. E. Angier, Mrs. F. K. Czerniski and Mrs. E. Burt were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements for the tree. Mrs. N. C. Collins and Mrs. O. C. Miller were joint hostesses for the afternoon.

Mrs. A. E. Dodds of Montrose returned recently from a three months' trip to the East. Mrs. Dodds was accompanied by her mother, who will be her house guest for the winter.

Mrs. George Smith of Los Angeles is the guest of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Brown of Los Angeles avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jennings Young are now occupying their new home on Los Angeles and Honolulu avenues.

WOMAN INSANE

YREKA, Nov. 18. — Mrs. Lillian Tonkins, charged with the murder of her husband, George Tonkins, at Sawyer's Bar last June, was declared insane by a jury here today. The jury was out of the courtroom less than 10 minutes.

The Barton Bedtime Stories

A MYSTERY BY THE LITTLE DARK POOL

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

You know Chips Beaver's luck. When the Wicked Little Brook and the pesky young foxes tried to spoil his work they only saved him trouble. So he got his fine new home done in half the time it would have taken him if they hadn't been so busy with their meddling.

Of course, the inside wasn't finished. He had to widen it out and fix a platform to sleep on. Right now he had scarcely enough room to turn around in. But he was so dreadfully tired he just crept in and flopped himself down with his tail poked up between two sticks, and his nose pointing toward his under-water doorway. And he slept all round the clock, from nearly sun-up till the sky was red with sunset. For you know Chips works at night. It was suppertime when Tommpy Peele and Louie Thomson heard him cutting down his trees the evening before. He slept so hard he didn't hear any visitors in the mean time.

But he had them. Bless you, yes! The minute school was out those two little boys came bustling back to the Deep Woods to find out why those trees had fallen. Weren't they puzzled when they found the gnawed-off stumps with nary a tree beside them? And wheren't they just flabbergasted when they found those trunks sticking out of Chips Beaver's roof?

"Whee-u!" whistled Louie. "Somebody's living here. Do you s'pose that's a fox's den?"

"N—no," owned Tommy, regretfully. (He wished it were, for then they could start a foxhunt any time they wanted one). "N—no. Watch doesn't smell a fox or he'd be growling."

Tommy's wise old dog didn't growl. He was whimpering to himself, with his nose on one of Chip's paw-prints. "Now, who in the wide woods made this track? oLoks like a muskrat-mark, only it's too big——"

And then Louie broke out. "Now who in the wide world built this place? Looks like a muskrat-house, only it's too big——"

When Tommy interrupted: "Can't be! You never can walk to a muskrat-house on dry land. The water comes up all round it."

And then Louie saw something that made him say: "You couldn't walk up to this one if that hadn't a hole in it." And he pointed to Chips Beaver's dam at the turn of the Wicked Little Brook.

But Chips didn't wake up.

Direct Action Gas Ranges

Bears for Women

In our store are two FRUIT CAKES, each half the same recipe. One was baked 3 hours unwatched and is perfect. The other baked one hour in moderate oven is just right.

No other cooking device can do the same things with twice the care and gas.

Direct Actions will do everything the fireless gas range can do, and do it with a gentle, dry, undying heat with results that are never guessed at.
